Armed Forces Demonstrate

Parades, Speeches Mark Day

Washington, May 17—(AP)—Two continents had a good look at America's growing military might today in demonstrations celebrating the third annual Armed Forces Day.

President Truman, 50,000 other spectators, military representatives from 44 nations—including four Iron Curtain countries—watched 15,000 troops march down Constitution avenue here in the nation's largest celebration.

400,000 Fighters On Review

In the greatest exhibition of U. S. military strength in Europe since World War II, nearly 400,000 American fighting men went on review from the North Sea to the Mediterranean—even 100 miles behind Soviet lines in West Berlin. Sixty-five U. S. embassies and missions overseas held public receptions or special events.

Elsewhere in the United States, citizens visited 450 military posts, stations, camps or bases holding open house; 3,000 National Guard armories displaying military exhibits; and listened to several hundred speeches by top officials.

Truman sat through the capital's 75-minute procession of troops, equipment and arms in cloudy topcoat weather, smiling and waving, taking off his hat to salute the flag each time a division passed his stand, and shaking hands with wounded veterans from Korea, seated nearby.

Russia Present

Iron Curtain military representatives seated to the right of the presidential reviewing stand included officials from Russia, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. They were invited to the display as Russia invites western world representatives to her annual May Day military show in Moscow's Red Square.

Among the day's major celebrations was New York's parade of 25,000 soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines.

Secretary of Defense Lovett spoke at the dedication of the James Forrestal Research Center at Princeton University, and Secretary of Navy Kimball addressed an armed forces luncheon at St. Louis, Mo.

Parade In Europe

Frankfurt, Germany, May 17—(AP)—American forces on the ramparts of Europe paraded their fighting punch today.

From isolated Berlin to the North Sea and the Mediterranean, the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force joined in celebrating their inter-service unity and made extra efforts as ambassadors of goodwill among allied peoples.

Nearly 400,000 Americans in uniform participated in Armed Forces Day on this continent. Millions of Europeans—most of them in Germany—glimpsed the martial pageantry.

Under the shadow of Russian threats, 40,000 Berliners saw 5,000 U. S. soldiers march past Maj. Gen. Lemuel Mathewson at Tempelhoff Air Base.

In scores of cities and towns where young Germans may soon be recruited for European defense, U. S. troops paraded and held open house.

Ten thousand infantrymen, with fixed bayonets, marched in Frankfurt, where Americans set up their occupation headquarters seven years ago after proclaiming that "we came as conquerors, not oppressors."

The emphasis today was all on defense and friendship.

WSB Probers May Feel Heat Of Politicos

Washington —(AP)— If congress makes the Wage Stabilization Board an all-public body subject to senate confirmation, the new board won't include any of the present six public members.

WSB is now composed of 18 members split three ways among industry, labor and the public. Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger, along with the other five public members, has been under heavy congressional fire because of the board's recommendations in the controversial steel case.

The Senate Banking committee has voted to recast the board into one composed altogether of public members—that is, not directly representing either industry or labor.

However, even if the senate in its mood of anger at the public members would confirm any of the present members for a new board, none of them would be willing to serve.

HEAT WAVE HITS LONDON

London, May 17—(AP)—The temperature climbed to 79 degrees here today, the hottest May 17 since 1871 and the hottest May since 1947. Newspapers settled on this—a heat wave by London standards—as the biggest news of the day.

HST Lashes GOP Heralds Demo Liberal

Washington, May 17—(AP)—President Truman predicted tonight the Democrats will nominate a "liberal" for president and win in November because the Republicans will "scare the daylights" out of the voters with their program.

Asserting the Democrats must "never, never throw away a winning program," Truman said in an address prepared for a dinner session of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), that there must be no party retreat on foreign policy, civil rights, power development and other issues.

In a slashing attack on the Republicans, Truman obviously was referring to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower when he declared:

"Isolationism is not dead. Far from it. Even if the Republicans get a presidential candidate with a good record in foreign affairs, he will not be able to drown out the raucous outcries of the rest of the party.

"And that prospect is beginning to scare the voters—as it certainly should."

For himself, Truman made it plain that he intends to veto the bill passed by congress yesterday to give the states title to the oil-rich submerged lands of the coasts.

Asserting that the "oil lobby" wants to exploit these areas to suit itself, he added:

"Talk about corruption. Talk about stealing from the people. This would be robbery in broad daylight —and on a colossal scale."

The president levelled another blast at the steel companies, currently engaged in a supreme court suit to invalidate government seizure of their plants in their dispute with the unions over wages.

Observing that he wasn't talking about constitutional issues before the court, Truman said the employes came before the Wage Stabilization Board and "proved that they were entitled to some wage increases."

"And then it was the turn of the steel companies," he said. "They were asked to agree to fair and reasonable wage increases and come in and submit their case for price increases, if they needed any. But would they do that? Not at all.

Speaking to delegates who already had applauded appeals by four presidential nomination candidates and others to go beyond the 1948 Democratic platform in social welfare proposals, Truman said there must be no turning back by the party.

"We are getting a lot of suggestions to the effect that we ought to water down our platform and abandon parts of our program," Truman said. "These, my friends, are Trojan horse suggestions."

"I have been in politics for over 30 years and I believe I know something about the business."

Moscow Papers Use Koje Incident As Propaganda

Moscow, May 17 —(AP)— Moscow papers used today's biggest headlines for stories about U.S. treatment of war prisoners in Korea.

These were some:

"Bloody repression by American aggressors."

"Beast-like actions of American militarists on Koje island continuing."

"Inhuman treatment of prisoners by American interventionists."

"Inhuman treatment of prisoners by American interventionists.'

The Communist party organ Pravda set the tone yesterday, asserting negotiations last week to free U.S. Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, from the Koje island prisoner compound proved that the Americans are outdoing Hitler in their mistreatment of war prisoners.

The Soviet papers followed the line of Red truce negotiators in Korea who have jumped on recent Koje island incidents for material on which to base new propaganda attacks against the Allies. U.S. authorities have denied all Communist charges and explained that disorders at Koje island arose, in fact, because the prisoners have been coddled.

BERGMAN EXPECTS TWINS

Rome, May 17—(AP)—Ingrid Bergman must wait a while for the expected birth of twins.

The Swedish film star entered Rome's new million-dollar Salvatore Mundi hospital Thursday. She left it today after doctors told her she had come too early.

Her Italian film director husband, Roberto Rossellini, said last month X-rays show she will have twins.

It will be the second birth for the couple, who married in 1950. Their first was a son, Robertino. Miss Bergman also has a 13-year-old daughter, Jenny (called Pia), by her former husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom

Oil Workers, Management May Agree

Wood River, Ill., May 17—(AP)—Union employes of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) refinery voted tonight to accept a settlement of their 18-day strike.

The workers, members of the independent Central States Petroleum Union, voted 587 to 365 for the new contract.

Included in the contract is a no-strike clause. This caused criticism from some union members.

John Blankenship, president of the local, said the men would start back to work Monday. He estimated full production would be reached by next Friday. Company officials could not be reached for comment.

The contract calls for a 15-cent an hour pay raise—9 cents of this retroactive to Dec. 28. Also the night shift workers will get premium pay of 6 to 12 cents an hour, compared to the previous 4 to 6 cents additional.

The previous contract provided for $2 an hour pay.

'Mixed Reaction' In Denver

Denver, May 17—(AP)—Oil union officials reported "a mixed reaction" from their members today toward efforts to settle the 18-day strike on the basis of a 15-cent hourly wage increase and other benefits.

Workers at some United States refineries have agreed to the offers and returned to work since the strike was called April 30 by a coalition of 22 CIO, AFL and independent unions.

At ather plants, difficulties in negotiations have cropped up regarding retroactive pay and union demands that wage negotiations may be reopened every six months. Most companies want to make this one year.

The strike has hit hardest at the country's supplies of high-actane aviation gasoline, forcing the U.S. air force to curtail training maneuvers and commercial air lines to drop some flights.

This week the Wage Stabilization Board at Washington recommended a 15-cent hourly wage increase, effective May 1, plus extra pay of 6 cents for the evening shift and 12 cents for the night trick. More than 9 cents of the hourly increase was retroactive to Jan. 1.

Texas Fire Loss Million Dollars; Nineteen Burned

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 17—(AP)—An oil tank fire that threatened blazing havoc flickered out today after 17 hours of flaming spectacle.

Damage was estimated are more than one million dollars as 50,000 barrels of kerosene in an 80,000-gallon tank exploded and burned, setting fire to some smaller tanks and burning a small refinery unit and two frame buildings.

Nineteen persons were treated for burns but only four were hospitalized.

What caused the fire was still an unanswered question.

Fire Chief John Carlisle estimated ten tanks exploded or collapsed during the huge fire at the General American tank storage terminal—just one mile from downtown Corpus Christi.

The spectacular blaze started at 3:15 p.m. CST., yesterday when the big tank exploded. It was snuffed out at 8:30 a.m. today but firemen continued to pour water on a 25,000-barrel oil tank that buckled from the heat.

How some 700 firemen and volunteers contained the blaze in about 500 square yards among the 30 huge tanks covering a half mile area near the Corpus Christi bay was a minor wonder.

A 27-block residential area near the fire was evacuated. Refugee centers were established at two schools but most of the 300 families went to the homes of friends.

SEVEN LUCKY NUMBER FOR SEVEN 1897 GIRLS

Bushnell, Ill., May 17—(AP)—Seven seems to be the number of destiny for the 1897 graduating class of nearby LaHarpe high school.

Seven young women made up the entire class.

The seven girls are all alive and in their seventies.

Marriage has resulted in seven sons and seven grandchildren for the six who married.

All still reside within a radius of a little more than 70 miles from LaHarpe and get together occasionaly for reunions.

They held their 55th class anniversary recently in Bushnell. One of the women brought a nostalgic gift: seven reproductions of the class graduating photograph.

Members of the class are Miss Susie Gilman and Mrs. Mary Towler Hillier of LaHarpe; Mrs. Minne Landis Ball of Bushnell; Mrs. Opheign Ashcraft Jacob of East Peoria, and Mrs. Lora Cassingham Prather, Mrs. Mayme Preston Pinkney and Mrs. Rose Gaumer Bradley of the Bushnell-LaHarpe area.

Stiff Regime Begins On Koje Under Boatner

Tokyo, Sunday, May 18—(AP)—The battle-tested U.S. 187th Airborne regiment is on Koje's island to bolster the tightened guard over tough Communist war prisoners.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, announcing the assignment last night, said the reinforcements were sent to prevent any mass outbreak. He observed that in past violence the Red prisoners were "obviously acting under instructions from outside agents of the international Communist power conspiracy."

The new U.N. top commander said the Reds would be required to behave at all times.

Red flags still fluttered in some of the prison compounds on the rocky island 30 miles off the top of southeast Korea. Correspondents reported Saturday the prisoners watched sullenly while troops built new sandbag pillboxes and armored guard towers.

Clark assigned Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, assistant commander of the U.S. Second infantry division, to run the camp and ordered Dodd and Colson back to previous duties behind the lines in Korea.

A headquarters source reported the 187th regiment flew to Pusan and was taken by boat to Koje.

This regiment jumped behind Communist lines in October, 1950, sealing off the retreat of the North Korean army. It made another combat jump at Munsan in the spring of last year. Since last summer the 187th had been stationed at Kyushu in southern Japan.

Little Inch Valve Splits, Injures Six

Mariett, Pa., May 17 —(AP)— A newly-installed valve on the "Little Inch" pipeline split open today and the pipe, like a Giant sandblast nozzle, sprayed inflammable natural gas over a square mile of farmland.

A nearby housewife said she heard a "muffled blast, then a terrific roar" and saw a "huge red ball" climbing into the sky.

Six workmen were knocked flat, their clothes torn in shreds by the red mud and pebbles which the rushing vapor whipped over the nearby area before it rose into the upper air. The men, two of them seriously injured, were taken to Lancaster General hospital.

Traffic within a quarter of a mile of the break was halted as police and volunteer firemen, fearing a fire, spread the warning of danger. The blockade was in effect for about four hours until the gas, lighter than air, rose and was blown away. There was no fire.

A spokesman for the Texas Eastern Transmission Co., which operates the 20-inch line and its parallel big brother the "big inch," said it will take some time to determine the damage. Gas loss was described as slight.

The 20-inch line carries natural gas from Texas to the Atlantic seaboard. The section affected by the explosion had been placed above the ground temporarily while a new compressor station was being erected. Texas Eastern had tested the line last night and had begun to build up pressure today when the valve blew out. Shutoff valves were turned on immediately after the blow out.

FINDS RING LOST 40 YEARS

Lancaster, Pa., May 17—(AP)—An 80-year-old man went out to hoe potatoes yesterday and found a gold ring set with a big red ruby.

Edward G. Myers found the owner with little trouble: it was son, Ralph, who lost the ring 40 years ago shortly after his wife, Florence, had given it to him.

LADY JUSTICE? SOME QUALIFY TAFT HINTS

Washington, May 17 —(AP)— Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has given a tip —or maybe it was just a slip—that he might name a woman to the supreme court if he's elected president and a court vacancy opens.

In talking to a group of women reporters he was asked what reward his women supporters could expect if he were elected. He replied he would name women to top-level posts—the cabinet or possibly the supreme court.

Pressed on this, he explained that the supreme court had occurred to him as he was searching his mind for something else on a par with the cabinet.

"We have some women who are well qualified for the supreme court," he said—"better than some of the men who have been appointed." He wouldn't say which men he meant.

Kentucky Demos Endorse Barkley As Favorite Son

Louisville, Ky., May 17 — (AP) — Kentucky Democrats launched their boom for Alben Barkley for president today.

The first formal endorsement for the vice president was given in a unanimous vote by the party's state central executive committee a few hours before the annual Democratic Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner tonight.

In the resolution, the committee went on record as "asking and insisting" that their fellow Kentuckian make the race for the presidential nomination.

U. S. Sen. Earle Clements of Kentucky followed that up by predicting a Democratic victory in the presidential race this year, and added, "I think it's going to be a lot easier to win with Barkley leading the charge."

Delegates for the party's national convention in Chicago will be chosen at the district and state conventions. Two delegates will be named from each of eight districts, and 10 by the state convention to complete Kentucky's 26 delegates for the national meet.

Airlift Still Used To Feed Scientists

Pearl River, N.Y., May 17—(AP)—An airlift went back into action today to provide weekend food for 400 humans and 500,000 animals isolated in a strike-bound "wonder drug" plant.

Two light airplanes soared over the heads of pickets and landed on the parking lot of American Cyanamid company's 400-acre Lederle laboratories, 18 miles northwest of New York City. The laboratories produce aureomycin, penicillin, sulfa and other drugs.

Part of the air cargoes consisted of green feed for the laboratories' guinea pigs. Humans there are depending largely on food supplies stocked in the laboratories' cafeteria.

The humans — mostly scientists and supervisory officials — settled down for the weekend with intentions of following baseball games on a television set and a radio in their "off" hours.

The scientists and officials have camped in the laboratories to avoid interruption of research tests since the AFL Chemical Workers union called a strike Wednesday in a wage dispute.

They are free to leave but, if they did, there would be the question of trying to get back inside in view of the pickets.

Joy Calls Tactics Of Reds Tragic

Munsan, Korea, Sunday, May 18 —(AP)—Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy told the Communists Saturday they were creating "a tragic situation" by their tactics in the critically deadlocked Panmunjom truce talks.

He added that the Reds' daily and prolonged propaganda blasts at the conferences "lead all the world to suspect that you have never genuinely desired an armistice."

But the senior Allied armistice delegate agreed to a Red request for another session today at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. CDT., Saturday).

The Reds have asked for all the meetings since they rejected May 2 the Allies' final proposal of April 28 for an overall settlement of the major issues blocking a truce. In that period the full dress sessions were secret.

The Allies suggested an indefinite recess, but the Communists wanted daily meetings with the news blackout lifted. Since then the Allied delegates have returned to the dusty conference village daily only to listen to tirades charging mistreatment of Communist war prisoners.

Truman's Criticism Of GOP Policies Gets Sharp Reply

Washington, May 17—(AP)—President Truman's attack tonight on Republican party policies drew quick retorts from GOP congressmen who said the address was on the "ward level" and incorrect. Some Democrats said he didn't go far enough.

Truman said in an address prepared for an Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) dinner that Democrats will nominate and elect a liberal because the Republicans will "scare the daylights" out of voters with their program.

Rep. Leonard W. Hall (R-NY) issued a statement saying:

"All the ward level vituperation that Mr. Truman and his horde of government-paid ghost writers are able to dream up between now and Nov. 4 will not hide the fact of Mr. Truman's complete inability to solve the terrible problems that are troubling our people—another war, high prices, back-breaking taxes, government waste and corruption.

"Mr. Truman shows his contempt for the intelligence of the American people by trying to duck those all-important issues but the Republican party will continue to meet them head on."

Truman said Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin was sneered at and jeered at by Republican senatorial colleagues because Wiley suggested some present foreign policies are good.

"I didn't sneer at anybody," said Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), one of seven the president mentioned by name. "The president is just as incorrect in that one as he has been on some of the other recent statements on which he had to back up so rapidly when they proved unfounded.

"Bi-partisan foreign policy, about which the Democrats speak so much has been just a myth," Hickenlooper added. "They run things as they see fit."

Tanks Blast Red Bunkers, Gun Positions

Seoul, Korea, Sunday, May 18 — (AP)— Allied tanks ripped into nomanland in four places on the Central Korean front Saturday and blasted 75 Communist bunkers and a score of machine gun positions before withdrawing.

The U.S. Eighth army briefing officer said the actions were not regular tank raids but rather armored patrols. Ten tanks were used as mobile artillery.

There was no immediate estimate of enemy casualties, or an indication of Allied losses, if any.

The actions ranged across the central sector north and northest of Kumhwa to a point southwest of Kumsong, some 25 miles north of the 38th parallel.

In the air war Communist MIGs slipped past screening U.S. Sabre jets and attacked much slower Allied fighter-bombers in an attack officially described by the air force as "very aggressive."

BOY LOST IN WOODS, MEN SEARCH AREA

Mayestown, Ill., May 17 —(AP)— Some 50 men are searching a rough, wooded area near here tonight for Andrew Jackson Callahan, 7.

Authorities said the boy went into the woods around 11 a.m. (CDT) to look for three younger brothers and sisters, whom he thought were lost.

They were found, but Andrew wasn't.

Monroe county Sheriff Emil Goeddel said the area is heavily infested with rattlesnakes and sinkholes. He added he understood the boy was dressed in overalls and had no heavy clothing for the cold night.

Mayestown is 30 miles south of East St. Louis.

Killing Opens Brink's Case

Eisenhower Wins Oregon, Vermont, Kefauver Gains

Supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower asserted again yesterday (Sat.) that ballots have proved the general is "the overwhelming choice of Republican voters."

They based their claim on his victory in Oregon. His opposition there did not include Sen. Robert A. Taft.

By his Oregon win, Eisenhower narrowed the nominating convention margin which Taft of Ohio holds, and trimmed it a little more at a Republican state convention in Vermont. The general easily won the full slate of 12 delegates there in a limited contest with Taft.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee forged back into the delegate lead among the Democrats by capturing Oregon's 12 delegates while also piling up a big victory in the popularity primary there.

Another busy week of delegate selection was ahead, starting in Hawaii today (Sunday) with a Republican convention to name eight delegates to the Chicago convention.

Montana state conventions on Tuesday will select eight Republican and 12 Democratic delegates. North Carolina Democrats will pick 32 on Thursday. Louisiana Democrats will name 20 on Friday. And on Saturday Washington State Republicans will name 24 delegates, Delaware Democrats will pick three and Minnesota Republicans three.

By the week's end, Republicans will have named 903 of their 1,206 national convention delegates and Democrats will have picked 711 of their 1,230.

Delegate selection went ahead yesterday in these three states:

Vermont — The state convention named a full slate of Eisenhower delegates and then adopted a resolution that the group go to Chicago pledged to him. Taft forces contended for five of the 12 delegate spots but lost by heavy margins. Vermont traditionally has sent its delegates to the convention unpledged, but the resolution instructing them to vote for Eisenhower was affirmed by a resounding "yes" from the convention.

Allies With Bonn Make Secret Plan To Combat Spies

Bonn, Germany, May 17—(AP)—A secret plan to combat Communist spies in West Germany has been drawn up by the Allies and the Bonn federal government, an informed Allied source said today.

Recent trials in Allied courts and a roundup by federal agents show West Germany is infested with Communist-paid agents from both East Germany and Soviet satellites such as Poland and Czechoslovakia.

During the seven years of occupation, the United States, British and French military intelligence services have borne the brunt of the counter-espionage work.

When the occupation is ended by a peace contract, expected to be signed next week, the Allies will be in a different position and their operations must be conducted in agreement with the Germans.

The internal security agreement which goes with the peace contract will not be published. Officially it does not form part of the contract.

Mystery Check Signed Hugh Winn Held By Church

Elizabeth, N.J., May 17 — (AP) — Rev. Timothy Dwyer, OSB, pastor of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church, has a $17,000 mystery on his hands today.

Father Timothy said the money, in the form of a check signed by a "Hugh Winn," had been mailed to the church on April 30 with a note saying "I hope you enjoy it."

The Priest said the envelope carried an Elizabeth postmark and a return address on Catherine st., but the address proved to be false.

He said today that the check, drawn on the Union County Trust Co., was found to be valid and has been deposited to the churchs account, but will not be used until an investigation is made of its source.

The bank declined to comment.

Father Timothy theorized that the name Hugh Winn might be a pseudonym meaning "You Win."

No Hugh Winn is listed in the Paris records nor in the city directory.

"MISS ILLINOIS OF 1952" NAMED

East St. Louis, Ill., May 17—(AP)—Miss Glenna Pohly, 19, of Rock Falls, Ill., became "Miss Illinois of 1952" tonight.

The 5-foot, 2-inch blond, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Pohly, entered the state-wide contest from Sterling, Ill

Planner Of Robbery Will Talk

West Warwick, R. I., May 17 —(AP)— An ex-convict night club operator was rubbed out by an assassin's shotgun today—and late tonight police said his killing had led them close to solution of the long-unsolved $1,219,000 Brink's robbery of 1950.

Eighteen hours after Carlton M. O'Brien, 49, was cut down in an ambush outside his home, Rhode Island Attorney Gen. William E. Powers announced police had found one of the architects of the Brink's raid in Boston—the nation's biggest cash haul.

Powers dictated this statement to reporters:

"We have located and talked to a witness who will testify under oath before a grand jury that he planned the details of the Brink's robbery with Joseph F. McGuiness of Boston."

McGuiness, a long-time friend of O'Brien, a year younger than O'Brien, and also a night club operator, was taken into custody by Boston police tonight for questioning about the slaying.

Half an hour before Powers mentioned his name, Boston police let him go. They said they were satisfied with his account of his movements today, and could find him any time they needed him.

Powers said McGuiness could not be placed on the scene of the Brink's robbery on Jan. 17, 1950—at that hour he was six miles away talking with a police lieutenant —"but we feel certain he can be convicted as an accessory before this fact."

Powers declined to name his witness but said he was passing the information on to Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Francis E. Kelly. Kelly was not home and could not be reached for comment.

Slaying Starts Developments

The O'Brien slaying at dawn started a chain of developments.

1. O'Brien's body was found outside his cottage home about 5 a.m. an autopsy showed he had been shot twice. The first blast went into his brain and killed him instantly. The second, after he crumpled, penetrated the heart.

2. Police took into custody as a material witness Julius Kenner, 55-year-old Providence jeweler with a criminal record dating to 1915. They said Kenner was with O'Brien at 9 p.m. last night.

Both O'Brien and Kenner were named only last Wednesday, police disclosed, as among the seven or more men who plotted and carried through the daring Brink's foray.

They were "fingered" by Alfred A. Gafnon of Pawtucket, a prisoner at Rhode Island State prison, who told Att. Gens. Powers and Kelly he had provided the peajackets, halloween masks and rope used by the bandits. Gagnon, grabbed in Chicago last month, is awaiting trial on a charge of attempted robbery of a Providence diamond merchant.

3. McGuiness was nabbed in Boston—and released.

4. Police, giving new credence to Gagnon's story, which they had previously shrugged off as little more than rehash of newspaper accounts, went through O'Brien's home from cellar to attic. Arthur Groleau said they were looking for Brink's loot.

AUTO WORKERS GET WAGE BOOST JUNE 1

Detroit, May 17 —(AP)— Approximately 1,000,000 auto workers will get a four-cent an hour wage boost in their pay checks starting June 1

The raise is an automatic "annual improvement factor" which has no relation to the cost-of-living pay scale in virtually all industry contracts. It applies to employes of General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and a host of smaller firms.

The improved factor was negotiated when the companies and the CIO United Auto Workers signed five-year contracts in 1945 and 1950. It is designed to raise living standards of the workers in line with technological advances which sped production.

CRUSADE AGAINST CANCER

Not without reason has the American Cancer Society chosen the sword as the emblem of its crusade against cancer, one of the leading enemies of human health and happiness. In a strong, affirmative attack on this insidious killer among diseases, the first aim is to detect, diagnose and treat cancer in its earlier stages. The principal weapon is knowledge.

In spreading information so that people will learn to recognize cancer symptoms, in supporting research undertakings, in providing improved service for cancer patients, the American Cancer Society performs a noble humanitarian, as well as socio-economic work. Through prompt detection and treatment, it is asserted that 70,000 lives were saved in 1951, altnough the toll of 215,000 deaths set a new record.

Need of education and watchfulness is of the highest importance. Two new powerful weapons in education are reported. The first is a joint project of the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute—a film to popularize breast examination, with the aim of saving a possible 80 per cent, instead of the present 35 per cent of women with breast cancer. The second is "on the job" teaching in industries of the facts about cancer.

A contribution to this work ought to commend itself to all who are able to make even a small gift. The attack on cancer is an attack on death.

TOURIST CLASS BY AIR

Among Americans of modest incomes gratifying a long felt desire to visit Europe has to be conditioned by two factors, time and expense.

There is another group of native Americans who have never been to Europe because of inability to spare the time, involving at least a week's steamship passage in each direction. To them should be added many citizens of foreign origin eager to see their homelands again.

With such in mind the Pan American World Airways has, with the approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board, inaugurated a tourist-fare clipper service between New York and London, and it will be operated 12 times a week in each direction in summer.

Such service with reduced fares could not have been inaugurated without the assent of all the members of the International Air Transport Association, and the governments of other lands touched. When it was proposed last September, some lines were averse to its being put into effect until late this year. But increased volume of business is expected to be so great that opposition has broken down and other air-lines are contemplating similar ventures.

The man or woman with three weeks' vacation can make visits to principal cities of as many as three nations of diverse customs. The service will not equal that of full rate air liners. There will be more seats and fewer amenities. But comfort will be the rule, and expense will be minimized. This marks a new era in air travel.

BEAUTY AS A HERITAGE

Dollars of Americans too long have been accused of treating art treasures of Europe as pillage and decoying to this country outstanding artists in many fields, of whom Caruso in his long sojourn in the U. S. was a prime example.

There never was a better time for individuals and representative institutions of this country to demonstrate their feeling that beauty, in its appeal to any of the senses, belongs to all who can appreciate it than the "Twentieth Century Exposition of the Arts of Democratic Nations" being held this year in Paris.

It is, therefore, both astonishing and heartening to note that on the evening of the very day paintings by European artists from American collections were exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art in Paris, the Boston Symphony Orchestra, playing for the first time in Europe, achieved an unforgettable triumph at the Paris Opera.

It was a gala event, with President Auriol, Robert Schuman, diplomats, notable composers, society and just plain music lovers in the throng, which responded fervently to a long program divided between American and French music. Conductor Charles Muench and the orchestra had to give their hearers for a second time the finale of Ravel's "Daphnis et and Chloe" suite.

To such an exposition of the arts as Paris planned and is staging it is well that Americans are unselfishly contributing. In an increasingly technological age humans dare not become automata. Sanity prescribes an increasing love of beauty as one of the great preventatives.

TELEVISION: THE NEW WIFE EDUCATOR

New York—(AP)—Let's face it, men. The potential danger of television isn't its effect on children. It's what it does to wives.

The truth is that television is the greatest wife educator since the invention of matrimony itself.

Most men secretly believe that all the average wife really knows about the world is what her husband bothers to tell her—or what her womanly intuition prods her into suspecting.

Television has changed all that. A turn of the dials brings all kinds of strange outside knowledge to the eyes and ears of the housewife. I have seen it happen in my own home, and does it leave me uneasy? It does.

We bought a video set some months ago and nicknamed it "Little Miss Cyclops" because of the single big eye in its forehead. At first my wife, Frances, despised it.

But today?

When Frances wants to know anything, she no longer consults me. She asks Little Miss Cyclops. It is worse than having a bossy mother-in-law around the place.

I never did claim to know the answers to everything, but Little Miss Cyclops does—or pretends to. And so my husbandly authority is breaking down altogether.

Take politics. The last political remark I remember my wife making was in 1939, when she said:

"When this Hitler goes into a country, what does he do—take what he wants of it and let the rest of it go?"

Well, naturally, my friends and I treasured this utterance with considerable hilarity for many years.

But now? Frances listens to every panel program with beagle eagerness, and calls every presidential candidate by his first name. If I make any off hand observation on a current issue, she replies witheringly:

"Why, Rover, that isn't what Estes said last Sunday. Neither did Bob the week before. You must be wrong. Don't you keep up with what is going on anymore?"

She has even gone into scientific research. She keeps five different kinds of cigarets handy, and smokes one out of each pack every day.

But what worries me most is the fact she is getting to be a fan of the crime programs Little Miss Cyclops dishes up in those evening rogues' gallery menus. The other night Frances broke out in sudden jeering laughter. When I lifted my eyebrows over the newspaper, she pointed at the TV screen and said:

"Look at the bum. He's holding his gat wrong. Ha, ha, ha.

Hollywood — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: A Hollywood ballyhoo campaign, with every trick known to eyebrow-lifting movie press agentry, is about to be launched in the "I Like Ike" Follies. There'll be everything from movie starlet leg art, to entice male voters, to "I Like Ike" bras for the ladies.

One Hollywood glamor cutie is even being lined up to pose for photographers wearing only "I Like Ike" campaign buttons. About 75 buttons, it's calculated, will keep everyone concerned out of jail.

A trio of movie press agents, Paul Ross, Hank Levy and Joe Gardiner, are the headline-happy lads lighting the publicity fuses for the Eisenhower Volunteers of Hollywood.

"Resistance is melting away now that Ike's piling up the votes in the primaries," Ross flashed it to me. "Everybody wants to get into the act."

Already in the act, according to Ross are Jack Warner, Dana Andrews, Doris Day, Bing Crosby, Red Skelton, Gale Robbins, Mike Romanoff, Virginia Mayo, Frank Lovejoy, Darryl Zanuck, Sam Goldwyn and Clark Gable.

Hollywood "I Like Ike" stunts coming up:

A Hollywood Blvd. parade, followed by a gigantic rally at Holywood Bowl. Personal appearances by Hollywood stars throughout the U.S.A. double for Eisenhower making a tour of Hollywood and New York night clubs, sky writers, TV films and radio plugs.

"It's going to be colossal," Ross said. "We're going to give Ike a bigger campaign than Howard Hughes gave Jane Russell. We'll probably even have Lassie in the act."

Winner of Unfaithful Husband Usually Loser of Bad Bargain

A columnist's mail is never dull. Perhaps because the columnist gets so many angles of the same old problems.

Here, for instance, is a letter from a young woman who wants me to back her up in her belief that she ought to demand that a wife give up her husband to her.

The writer has been having an affair with a married man for a long time. She says he has been most generous to her. Given her many gifts Lets her drive his car, and so on.

The wife has found out about the affair, but is sitting tight—with no intention of demanding a divorce.

So far as I could tell from the "other woman's" letter the husband has never asked for one.

So the other woman thinks she ought to demand that the wife step out of the picture. And what do I think about it, she asks?

"OTHER WOMAN" SHOULD BOW OUT

I think she had better do the fade-out herself. She has no moral or legal right to demand that the other woman turn over her husband.

What she has she has stolen. And the sooner she faces that fact, the better off she'll be.

Chances are, if she goes to the wife she will only strengthen her determination to sit the situation out.

If she should get the wife out of the picture, she has no assurance that the husband will marry her. Philandering husbands usually don't want to swap one wife for another. They want to have their cake and eat it, too.

And even if she should succeed in marrying this man, she would be getting a poor bargain.

A man who will cheat on one wife will probably cheat on another.

Why two women will fight over a no-good man is one of life's mysteries. For the winner is really the loser in the end.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Christianity in the Home

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Frightened by an earthquake, the Philippian jailer described in Acts 16 threw open the prison doors. But not a single prisoner stepped forward to freedom.

Dumbfounded and panic-stricken, the jailer turned to two of the prisoners, Paul and Silas, crying, "What must I do to be saved?" Answered Paul, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shall be saved, and thy house."

Just what salvation meant to the jailer, troubled about what might befall him in that stern Roman world, is not clear, but in the answer of Paul salvation became something more than safety from the judgment of his superiors.

It was a moral and spiritual awakening and experience, but the interesting thing is that it affected the jailer's family, as well as himself.

Family religion was plainly a common experience of early Christian days. The church itself in some instances was in a house, as in the house of Acquila and Priscilla, in the same city of Philippi.

Conditions somewhat similar to those of early Christian times, as they affected family life and religion, prevailed in many, if not in most, communities until comparatively recent times.

In the early days of the United States and Canada, families were closely knit together. Many attended church as families and often prayed and read the Bible together.

We should not put too high an estimate on "the good old days," however, for all families of the past were by no means religious, and there was much wild life and irreligion in frontier communities that later became very religious and respectable.

My friend, the late William Wye Smith, Congregation minister and Scottish-Canadian poet (he translated the New testiment into Braid Scots and wrote the Scottish part of the original Standard Dictionary), once told me that his frontier family left the American frontier and moved to Ontario, because of the irreligion, Sunday horse racing, etc., where they had first settled.

In contrast, however, one observes the clear and strong influence of the Bible in the frontier home of Abraham Lincoln. It was undoubtedly a great factor in the development of his moral character and ideals, but it was also, apparently, the chief factor in his education.

Its influence is manifest in his inaugural addresses. I read recently that the great President had only six months of formal schooling. The foundation of what he was was in his stepmother's use of the few stories at her command, and especially in her use of the Bible.

When one considers all that that meant in the life of Lincoln, one can sense the tragedy in the fact that so comparatively few boys and girls are under such influences in the home today.

Even church schools and all the more common religious agencies of today, cannot atone for the lack, and decline of religion in the home.

Congress Must Act Quickly on Peace Contract With Germany

BY PETER EDISON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — West Germany's approval of the new "contractural relationship" peace treaty with the western powers—now expected before the end of May—will lay a nice fresh problem on the Washington doorstep.

This peace contract must be ratified by the U. S. Senate. The matter of speed is considered important, if the Russians are to be beaten to the punch in their new peace offensive.

With Congress anxious to adjourn before the U. S. political conventions in July, there may be some inclination to let the German treaty ride over. If Congress is called back into special session after the conventions, U. S. ratification might be effected before fall. But if ratification is delayed till after Jan. 1, 1953 and the job is left for the new Senate, it may be too late.

The time-table on ratification of the Japanese peace treaty gives some indication of how slowly the Senate sometimes moves. This treaty was signed at San Francisco last September. Japan accepted the treaty in November, after the U. S. Congress had adjourned.

Senate Foreign Relations committee hearings began Jan. 22. The Senate ratified the treaty March 20 and it went into effect April 28. It was thus a three months' job.

A lot can happen in that time in Europe.

American officials admit that if the Russians were smart they would accept the idea of a United Nations-supervised election to set up a unified German government. That would throw for a bad loss the western power's plan for an alliance with western Germany.

DOUBLE-CROSS BY ADENAUER HELD UNLIKELY

But the fear that Western German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will double-cross the western powers at the last minute is discounted by most American and European leaders.

True, Mr. Adenauer has been making statements that the new German ties with West will not be binding on a unified Germany. These statements are analyzed as being necessary political concessions for internal German consumption.

Internationally, Chancellor Adenauer's statements are regarded as something of an offset for French attempts to dominate the Saar. If the French had not raised that issue at the psychologically wrong moment the Germans might have gone along with better grace.

• • •

Jean Monnet, French fiscal expert, is currently in the U. S. for a series of speeches is which he is extolling the merits of the Schuman plan as the salvation of western Europe. Walter Hallstein, west German undersecretary of Foreign Affairs was here a month ago and sang the same song.

While the importance of the new peace contract with Germany is not minimized, the Schuman plan is emphasized as an instrument that will make western European collaboration a working reality and not just a political alliance.

Tariffs on coal and steel movements between the six nations will immediately be abolished when the Schuman plan goes into operation six months hence. The coal and steel cartels, with all their restrictive trade practices, will likewise disappear.

INCREASE IN GERMAN COAL SUPPLY EXPECTED

The French contend that in the past the Germans produced only enough coal to keep the foreign market price high. With a free market established, this restriction will be abolished. Demand will determine supply and supply is expected to be greatly increased.

The Schuman plan pool of iron, steel and coal will be run by a "high authority" as chief executive. A "special council" of one cabinet member from each country and a "common assembly" of members from the various parliaments will make the rules. A seven-member "court of justice" will settle the disputes.

The French believe that creation of this international super-government over basic raw materials will in time lead to a federation of western Europe.

If unification of western Europe comes this way, it will be a curious development. It will be a super-government over international trade in basic materials only.

It can, of course, be broadened later. But at the start it will be without provision for guarantees of human and civil rights, which will be left entirely to the member countries.

In spite of this limitation of the Schuman plan, it has apparently been widely accepted by the people of western Europe. The Russians are violently oposed to it. So are the old conservatives, who want business as usual. But the free-trade unions have backed it as the best idea yet to stimulate peace in western Europe.

Low-Cost Meals by Girls' Clubs

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Little girls between the ages of 6 and 12 who belong to Girls' Clubs of America learn how to prepare extremely low-cost but nourishing meals.

These clubs, which offer a daily, after-school program for only little girls (most girl's clubs admit only teenagers), emphasize home making rather than careers. Cooking is one of the most popular activities. The youngsters plan meals in advance, shop prepare and serve the meals. The cost of each meal is kept as near 25 cents a person as possible.

The Girls' Club of America have national headquarters in Springfield, Mass. Several nationally prominent Americans sponsor this youth helping organization, among them J. Edgar Hoover, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and the Hon. Frances Perkins.

Here are some very good budget menus developed by the little girls of Bristol, Conn.:

1. Spaghetti with tomato sauce cole slaw, biscuits, baked apples, milk.

Total cost for 6 persons $1.68.

Average cost per person .26

2. Kidney bean bake, cole slaw, carrots, biscuits, pudding, milk.

OBESITY A CONCERN OF MAJORITY IN U. S. SAYS LOCAL DRUGGIST

"Sixty per cent of the people in the United States are interested in reducing either for health or reasons of appearance."

This is a statement of Mr. Heidinger and Mr. Steinheimer, proprietors of Rexall Drug Stores, N. Side Square and West State, today in announcing the new Ann Delafield Appetite Reducing Plan for which they are the exclusive agents in Jacksonville.

"Miss Delafield has helped reduce more people than any other person in the United States," said Mr. Heidinger and Mr. Steinheimer, "so she is eminently qualified to advise anyone on the problems of over weight and the beauty problems attendant to it."

The well-known Rexall druggists said the originator of this reducing plan was bringing Fifth Avenue Salon treatments into the home for the first time in reducing-treatment history. They added that Miss Delafield has a startling list of achievements to her credit, since she was the originator of charm schools in America, winner of the Fashion Academy Award as one of the ten best dressed business women in the United States on three different occasions and has years of experience in famous sanitariums working with the foremost doctors in the country, specializing in health and body conditioning.

"Many of the women of Jacksonville are probably already familiar with Miss Delafield through her many articles in the leading journals of the country," said Mr. Heidinger and Mr. Steinheimer. "Despite her regular schedule as teacher, dietitian, beautician, lecturer and consultant, she still maintains a tremendous pace at her admitted age of seventy-two years. With her vivacity, which can be envied by women many years her junior, her charm and personality are the best testimonials to the Ann Delafield Reducing Plan."

This new weight control program has now been introduced to the nation at large. Rexall Drug Company, with which Mr. Heidinger and Mr. Steinheimer are affiliated as independent druggists, and the 10,000 drug stores associated with it, are the exclusive distributors for this new beauty and weight control through health program. Launch Movement For Youth Theater

By WILLIAM L. DeFRATES

Rumpelstielskin may soon put in an appearance in Jacksonville!

Mrs. P. J. Davidsmeyer, president of the Jacksonville chapter of the A.A.U.W., (American Association of University Women) has announced that a local Youth Theater is being formed with the first production to be staged in late October or early November.

The new dramatic organization, whose leaders are at work dreaming up an appropriate name for the group, is being formed to provide high calibre theater entertainment for the youth of Jacksonville and surrounding areas. Its membership is open to all interested citizens willing to work for and with a Youth Theater.

It is hoped that the project will provide an outlet for much unused talent, especially for those who have been trained in drama in local schools and colleges. Plays will be selected for presentation primarily to suit the tastes of children between the ages of six and fourteen.

Miss Frees Heads Group

It all began when the A.A.U.W. appointed a study group headed by Octavia K. Frees, director of the Illinois College Hilltop Players, to report on the possibility and desirability of such a project in Jacksonville. Miss Frees, who will serve as director of the Youth Theater, has had much experience in this type of work. She formerly acted in the American Children's Theater in New York, and later directed the "Children's Theater of the Air" over Station KFUO in St. Louis. After six years in Jacksonville, she is convinced there is a need for such entertainment and is determined to make a Jacksonville Children's Theater a reality.

The policy of the organization as it is now being formulated calls for three productions a year if enough interest can be stimulated and enough talent made available. The plays will be appropriate for distinct age levels of children; that is, fairy tales like "Jack and the Beanstalk" will be given for the very youngest, and adventure stories such as "Hans Brinker" for the eldest. Curtain time will be between 2:00 and 5:00 p. m.

Small Charge Necessary

A very slight admission charge will be made to help defray production costs. Miss Frees pointed out that it costs at least $100 to present a play. Royalty costs average $15 for one performance, $10 for the second; scripts are about 75c each, and costumes and scenery constitute the remaining expense.

While the A.A.U.W. is offering total financial backing for the first production, the continued successful presentation of the plays will be dependent on a reserve fund to be raised through donations from various service clubs and organizations in the city. The A.A.U.W. will handle the sale of tickets and provide ushers for all performances.

Two Residences Sold At Auction At Court House

Two residences, one located in Jacksonville and the other in Murrayville, were sold at public auction in the Morgan county court house Saturday morning. Both were partition sales, sold at the direction of the heirs of estates of former owners. Both sales were conducted by the Middendorf Bros., auctioneers.

The house and lot owned by the heirs of Mrs. Winifred Dollear, who died a number of years ago, and located at 603 Hardin avenue, were auctioned to John Lewis, retired farmer of Jacksonville. He entered a winning bid of $10,050. The residence is composed of three two-room apartments and one three-room apartment. Lawyers for the estate and directing the sale were Bellatti, Arnold and Fay, and John B. Wright as master-in-chancery.

The Murrayville property, a house and lot, owned by the heirs of Emma Osborne, was auctioned to Ira Story, secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan Association, Jacksonville. His winning bid was $1,625. The residence is an eight-room, two-family home, all on one floor. Attorneys for the transaction were Wilson and Wright of Jacksonville.

Crab Grass Control by Chemicals Now Possible

A Weedless Lawn Without Hard Work Is Now Possible

Crab grass, long the No. 1 summer pest of lawns, can now be controlled by chemical treatment. In infancy it is not easily distinguished in the lawn but in midsummer it ruins the appearance of lawns.

You may know crab grass as wire grass, water grass, or even quack grass, though the real quack is quite different. Crab grass is killed by frost, but starts from seed in early summer. In midsummer it becomes conspicuous for its coarse stems, difficult for the lawn mower to cut, and soon develops rusty red seed stalks which discolor the lawn, and drop seed for the next year's crop.

No effective and economical method of eradicating this pest was ever found, until chemical weed killers were developed, and it resisted the first one, 2,4D, which deals with most other lawn weeds. Considerable success has been had by those who use PMAS, the initials standing for the chemicals in the formulation, chiefly mercury. A more effective chemical, potassium cyanate, then was released, after tests by both government and state experiment stations.

Though PMAS is poisonous, potassium cyanate is harmless to animals, including pets and children, in spite of the resemblance of its name to the deadly potassium cyanide. It has been used for years by onion growers to kill weeds in their fields, among which crab grass was present. Since it killed crab grass along with the others, it was tried out for lawn use, and proved to kill both this pest and chickweed, without injuring the grass. Temporary yellowing of the grass may be noticed after an application, but it lasts only a few days, and the chemical breaks down into potash and nitrogen, both plant foods, so that growth may be stimulated by the application.

Two sprayings are recommended, the first when plants are first detected, the next before the plants which may escape the first treatment go to seed. Use a sprayer, to apply the solution in a mist which will coat the grass leaves. Follow direction accurately, and do not spray dry grass. Either water the lawn before spraying, or apply just after a rain.

Annual spraying may be necessary until your neighbors spray their lawns and the production of seed to be carried by the wind and by birds is ended.

If you have not sprayed your lawn with 2,4D this year, a combination of 2,4D with potassium cyanate will kill nearly all lawn weeds with one spraying. When you do this you may find many vacant places in your lawn, where the weeds formerly grew. An application of plant food to stimulate growth of the remaining grass will quickly cover these vacant places with fine lawn grasses. Instead of being the hardest work required for good lawn care, weed killing has become a simple matter of strolling around the yard, directing a lethal spray upon the pests.

Unusual New Latex Girdle Features Adjustable Garters

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Have you ever had the feeling that your stockings were sitting down when you were standing up? More commonly known as just plain sag, such stocking shapes can ruin your disposition, day and decor.

Then there's the problem of stocking strain. Practically every woman knows what it's like to wear "too short" hose. They pull and strain, and usually end up in a network of runs.

Coming to your rescue is a new girdle with specially-designed garters that never lose their elasticity, and adjust to any length of leg or stocking. These tissue-thin garters will be invisible under the most clinging dress.

The garters are made in one continuous piece with the girdle itself, which has fabric fused to latex, without a single seam or stitch. Because of this construction, the girdle will give your figure a smooth, sleek line, with no hint of bulge or bulk.

Wonderfully resilient, the garters allow complete freedom of action. You can drive a car, stoop down to play with the children or reach for a high shelf without danger to your precious nylons.

These garters are simple to adjust, too. A flick of the finger puts each of the four garters at the perfect length for you. But don't depend on an eye test. Move around, bend over, sit down, go through motions that are a usual part of your daily routine. Then, make any adjustments that might be necessary for good grooming and comfort.

Household Hints

For convenience and economy, make sure that any drapery material you buy is sudsfast, sunfast, shrink resistant, and heavy enough to hang gracefully.

Because ordinary waxed paper is not moisture and vapor proof, it is not recommended as wrapping material for food freezing.

To minimize chipping, buy glassware with straight or incurving edges.

Keep a tray on your stove-top as a resting place for stirring spoons and working tools.

Baby's Quarters

Plan Nursery For Beauty

By Alicia Hart
NEA Beauty Editor

Since the happiness of your baby is very much dependent on her surroundings, you should give a great deal of thought to your nursery plans.

The color scheme, for one thing, is of utmost importance. Pick fragile pastel shades. You can either paint or paste animal figures on the wall. Just be sure these decorations aren't so large that they overwhelm the rest of the room.

Choose rugs that have a minimum of fuzz and lint. Your baby's nostrils are particularly sensitive to flying dust particles. Cotton braided or hooked rugs are probably your best bet. They can be found in a variety of gay colors and are easy to launder.

When you are ready to look for furniture, choose a crib with a no-sag posture spring. See to it that the drawers in the chifferobe won't stick when you want something in a hurry, and that they allow sufficient space for storage as well as daily needs.

The most convenient type of chifferobe has sliding tray drawers, a long drawer for blankets and a section for hanging your baby's dresses. As far as lamps are concerned, pick table types or pin-up wall lamps. Floor models are too easy to tip over.

Baby's nursery should also have a screen to shut off drafts, blankets, pads, water-resistant sheets, diaper pail with cover, bath table, scales and a tray to hold bath and skin-care accessories.

Lovely Sunning

Treat Your Skin To Gradual Tan

By Alicia Hart
NEA Beauty Editor

Now that warm weather is making itself felt, you should begin sun bathing as often as possible. The sooner you begin, the better your skin will be able to take the stronger rays later on.

If you are a housewife, set aside a half-hour or so in the afternoon for gardening or just relaxing in your backyard. Should you live in an apartment house, the problem is easily solved by paying a visit to a neighboring park or your roof.

The woman who works in an office, of course, must confine her outdoor activities to weekends. If you are in this category, make it your business to get out under the sun on Saturdays and Sundays.

Your determination to spend time out of doors will give you an opportunity to bicycle ride, join a hiking group or perhaps indulge in such sports as tennis and horseback riding.

Long drives out in the country will also enable you to enjoy the wonderful spring weather, to say nothing of seeing nature at its very best.

Don't underestimate the strength of the sun at this time of the year, however, especially if your skin is sensitive. Apply suntan lotion will also help to insure a smooth, even tan.

Your skin will take the heat of the summer sun with no trouble at all—with the proper introduction.

Unique Fabric Perfect for Bedwear

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York —(NEA)— Fabric is working fashion miracles every day, making important changes in both our buying habits and our wardrobe outlook.

Recently, designers started doing sleepwear that doubles beautifully for public appearances, and once again, the trick lies in the fabric.

This time, it's acetate tricot that's opaque for wear in public and yet both smooth and soft for comfortable sleeping.

High-fashion loungewear (left) is designed by Henson for double use in overnight travel. Pajamas have a tied-in bloomer effect at the knee and are in solid dark color. They're paired with a robe in printed acetate-rayon tricot. The robe has still other wardrobe uses since it can double for either a brunch coat or as a beachcoat.

For hot-weather sleeping, many women are addicted to the neatness and comfort of the shortie pajama. These (right) in acetate tricot are ideal for this purpose and equally good for getting a suntan during the day. Further, the fabric is quick-drying and needs no ironing.

Spring Training

Care Governs Hair Beauty

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Spring is a transition period for your hair. Heated rooms, heavy hats and freezing temperatures have all taken their toll. Before you can be certain your hair will look lovely under the revealing rays of the sun, you must give it some special treatment.

You'll be getting your hair off to a pretty, healthy start first if you have it cut. This will eliminate all those dry and frizzy ends.

If you need a permanent, either give yourself one or pay a visit to your favorite salon. This is no time for limp, straight hair. Pretty soon you will be swimming and spending many hours in the sun. You certainly won't want to worry about whether or not your hair will hold its curl.

Since the sun has a tendency to dry out the natural oils when you are out all day, wear a protective covering on your head. So many women are inclined to discard hats as soon as summer comes. This is unwise. You must guard your precious hair.

Always a "must" is brushing. One hundred strokes a day are the absolute minimum. Once a month give your hair and scalp a special oil treatment. This will also help to prevent your hair from drying. Massage your scalp, too. And don't forget to apply a hair dressing before you go in swimming.

Without care on your part, the sun can be just as damaging to your hair as it is to your skin. The precautions you take will insure its health and beauty.

Mix sauerkraut with a little finely chopped onion and brown sugar; spread in a baking dish, top with sliced frankfurters, and bake in a moderate oven until heated through. Creamy mashed potatoes taste fine with this dish.

Household Hints

To reduce vitamin losses, put vegetables into the refrigerator as soon after purchasing as possible. Wash and dry them well before storing.

Most of the covering materials used in children's toys are washable. A good brushing after a stuffed toy is bathed and dried makes it look like new.

To achieve color harmony blend your wall color to your rug color and repeat this key color in a different value on a sizable piece of furniture.

Start a new collection of scatter pins by gathering your mate-less earrings together and having your favorite jewelry repairman replace the earring backs with safety clasp pins.

After cooking the family meal, freshen up by splashing cologne or toilet water on your hands and brow.

When shoes get wet, stuff them carefully with paper and dry them away from the heat.

If a rug blends in color with the floor, an illusion of space is created in the room.

For Well Groomed Garden Many Plants Need Staking

Properly staked plants insure an orderly garden. Lack of proper staking means that you are reasonably sure to have some wrecked and messy beds later in the season. A heavy rain or wind storm is likely to knock over tall and heavy foliage plants which naturally have stems not sufficiently sturdy to stand up under such circumstances.

Delphiniums are the first plants in the garden to show the need for staking. The heavy spikes of bloom on these stately perennials make them singularly susceptible to destruction by winds or heavy rains. Stake them before the buds start to open and save the beauty of the delphiniums.

Gladiolus with heavy spikes of bloom are likely to need stakes. Lilies and iris of the taller types also need this assistance. Tall African and French marigolds are tipped over by wind or rain and become a jungle. Staking would have saved them.

The first requisite of good staking is that the stakes should be strong and capable of holding up the plant, but as unobtrusive as possible. Green painted stakes are least conspicuous. The cheapest and most efficient stakes are the bamboo canes sold in varying lengths by dealers. They may be bought already painted or in their natural color and you can paint them yourself. They are strong and durable. Heavy wire stakes are least obtrusive of all especially when painted green. Plants can be tied to them easily and held upright so that the tying cannot be distinguished until viewed at close range.

Set the stakes and tie the plants before they come into bloom. A good job of staking that will not make the plant look stiff and obviously tied up cannot be done after it has come into bloom. For plants of lighter growth that are apt to sprawl and be of untidy habit, twiggy branches carefully applied make the best supports. The tall snapdragons need staking. If pinched back and tied the tall types throw out branches. The long terminal spike is sacrificed but a much greater quantity of bloom and finer garden display is obtained. Get in a supply of stakes and give the plants known to need staking attention early in their career. The sooner staking is attended to, the less obtrusive will it be when the plant reaches the maturity of its bloom.

Ten Candidates File For New School Board

Ten petitions were filed with the Morgan county superintendent of schools at 4 p.m. Friday by candidates for the board of education of newly created Community Unit School District No. 11. The seven members of the new board will be chosen in an election to be held June 7, County Superintendent John C. Deem announced Saturday morning.

The period allowed for filing petitions of candidacy closed Friday afternoon. Deems said withdrawals will be allowed up to next Friday, May 23.

The new community unit district was created when a referendum held last Monday returned an overwhelming majority in favor of the proposition. The voters of all three of the areas making up the district voted for the new district. These were the Chambersburg district of Pike county, Meredosia, and a number of rural common school districts in Morgan and Cass counties. According to law, it was necessary for all three areas each to return majorities in favor of the proposition before District No. 11 could be formed.

Three From A Township

The state school law also requires that only three members of a community unit board of education may hail from a single township. In the present case, there are more than three candidates who have filed from one of the townships in the new district.

The election June 7 will be conducted in two voting precincts created for the occasion. Voting booths will be set up in Meredosia and Chambersburg.

An organization meeting of the new board will be held Monday, June 9, two days following the election, Supt. Deem announced. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the Meredosia grade school building. At that time the board will elect a president, who must be a voting member of the board, and a secretary who, according to statute, does not necessarily have to be a board member.

The new school district is the fourth to be created under the jurisdiction of the superintendent of schools of Morgan county. It will be known either as No. 11 or as the Chambersburg - Meredosia district. It is composed of one and a portion townships in Pike county, one and a portion townships in Morgan county, and parts of two townships in Cass county. Most of the territory, however, is located in Morgan.

The Candidates

Following are the ten candidates for election to the school board, together with the townships they represent. Raymond Lozelle Major, Township 3, Range 2, Pike county; Edward Irving, Township 3, Range 2, Pike; Gerald Dugan, Township 3, Range 2, Pike; Allen B. Chrisman, Township 16, Range 13, Morgan; Robert Lansink, Township 16, Range 13, Morgan; Clifford Ackerman, Township 17, Range 12, Cass; H. H. Arnold, Township 16, Range 13, Morgan; Fred Vortman, Township 16, Range 12, Morgan; Boid B. Metz, Township 3, Range 2, Pike; and Lew W. Cummings, Township 3, Range 2, Pike.

Unless there are withdrawals next week, the names will be listed on the ballot in the order they appear here, according to Supt. Deem. The ballot listing is determined by the order of filing, he added, which is a provision of the state school code.

Miss Sieber At Club Convention At Minneapolis

Miss Charlotte Sieber, retiring president of the 20th district of Federated Woman's clubs in Illinois, represented the Jacksonville Woman's club at the 61st national convention held May 12 to May 17 at Minneapolis, Minn.

All organization meetings were held at the Minneapolis Auditorium. Many luncheons, committee meetings and parties were in force throughout the convention. A special dinner at the Nicollet hotel by the Mississippi Valley Conference honored Mrs. Hiram Houghton of Iowa, retiring Federation president; Mrs. Theodore Chapman of Jerseyville, first vice president of the Federation and Mrs. R. I. Prout of Michigan.

Enroute home aboard the G. M. and O. passenger train, Miss Sieber experienced a three hour delay near Pontiac, Ill., where a freight train was derailed. At Springfield, the trains destination for passengers going to Jacksonville, the Greyhound midnight bus was held to accommodate travelers enroute to this city.

Pleasant Plains Resident Stabbed

Springfield, Ill.—Edward Karrick, a tenant farmer of R. R. 1, Pleasant Plains, told police Friday night he was stabbed in a brawl at the West Side tavern at the village's outskirts and deputies said they were questioning Richard Conners, of Pleasant Plains.

Karrick was being treated at Memorial hospital for cuts on his forehead, left ear and the back of his right hand, plus one inch and three inch lacerations on the left side of his neck.

State Police Sgt. Wellman Page was called to the West Side tavern at 7:40 p.m. He was quickly joined in the investigation by Deputy Sheriffs Robert Goby and Paul Fredericks.

After emergency treatment by the Ashland doctor, Karrick was taken to the hospital in a private ambulance. His condition was not believed to be critical.

Conners was arrested at his home by deputies shortly after 10 p.m.

Alias Basil Willing

Copyright 1951 by Helen McCloy Dresser, printed through permission of the publishers, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, was murdered while masquerading under Basil Willing's name. The same night, Miss Katherine Shaw, aged and blind, who apparently was to meet Duggan at the home of Dr. Zimmer, dies. Miss Shaw's nephew Brinsley, and secretary Charlotte Dean cannot shed light on her death. However, Perdita Lawrence, daughter of the poet Stephen Lawrence, has been acting strangely and her father asks Basil to consult with Dr. Zimmer regarding her case. Zimmer cooperates and Basil has found nothing wrong in his method of treatment but Basil says that his findings will not all be medical—the case involves murder as well as neurosis.

SUDDENLY Zimmer smiled once more—a disarmingly candid smile. "In other words: Is Perdita Lawrence neurotic and innocent? Or is she normal and guilty?"

The door had opened abruptly with a crisp, sibilance of taffeta. "I'm so sorry!"

Zimmer had risen too. "Greta, do you remember my telling you about Dr. Willing? My sister, Mrs. Mann."

"How do you do?" Her voice was tiny and metallic. Her face, small, wrinkled, mobile, with bright, empty eyes that were shrewd rather than intelligent. She was a woman who would make her way in a woman's world.

Greta Mann was the sort of woman who thinks it is seductively feminine to chatter. "I've been shopping all day. Such crowds! But I do so love the New York shops, Dr. Willing. You have no idea how delighted I was when Max decided to settle here after the war and asked me to play hostess for him. I hadn't seen Max for nearly 15 years, but he had changed so little that we took up just where we left off."

"Where did you live before, Mrs. Mann?" queried Basil.

"In Boston. Ever since my husband died. He was a Bostonian. But I never felt at home there. Heaven knows Max and I both deserve a little gaiety. We've both lived through such bad times. I, after my husband's death, and Max when he was a prisoner of war."

"Were you a prisoner of the Nazis, Mr. Zimmer?"

"No." Zimmer's voice was quiet, but there was effort behind that quiet. "I was a prisoner of the English."

"But he wasn't a Nazi," put in Greta.

"No. I wasn't a Nazi," Zimmer smiled at Basil ruefully. "I had been practicing in England 20 years. I was more English than German, but I was still a German citizen and therefore an alien automatically interned when war broke out. After investigation, I was declared harmless and released about 18 months later. When the American Army occupied Germany, they employed me as a civilian. Hubert Canning was over there, reorganizing the German building industry, and he made it possible for me to come to this country." Some memory plowed deep lines in Zimmer's face. "I saw Buchenwald and some of the other camps. In one of them I found Otto. He's been with me ever since."

"And I hardly remember what Germany was like!" chattered Greta. "I married an American and came to this country when I was 18 and now—I'm over 50."

"The Germany of your girlhood was different." Zimmer turned to Basil. "I'm sure you know why I'm letting Greta bore you with all this?"

"You'd rather I heard it from someone who knows you?"

"Naturally. Someone else might distort it. 'Dr. Zimmer talks like an Englishman but he was a German. Probably was a Nazi like all the rest of them.'"

"You forget I have access to official records," said Basil.

• • •

CHARLOTTE DEAN graced the tea table with admirable aplomb. It was a tip-table with a piecrust edge covered with a cloth of lace-edged linen gaily embroidered in Delft blue. As usual Charlotte's ritual civility was more impenetrable than the most defiant rudeness. Basil felt as if he were forcing his way through a maze of silky, clinging cobwebs.

"Let me put my cards on the table," said Basil. "I believe that Miss Shaw employed Duggan as a detective and that they were both murdered because of it."

"Oh . . ." Charlotte's slim hands gripped the edge of the tea table. "I believe that someone poisoned her while she was at Dr. Zimmer's house—the same place where Duggan was poisoned."

"Then why did it take her so much longer to die?"

"Perhaps it was some peculiarity of her constitution or Duggan's. Perhaps she had developed a certain tolerance for codeine, which she was taking regularly. Or perhaps someone knew she would take codeine later that night and adjusted the first dose accordingly to delay her death until she returned home."

Charlotte's face was ashen. "Then—the pill I gave her so innocently. . . ."

"Duggan got a heavier dose than the poisoner intended. The poisoner had no way of knowing that Duggan would leave Dr. Zimmer's house before dinner and I cannot believe the poisoner intended either one of them to die at the dinner. Suppose Duggan had died in his sleep as Miss Shaw did: would anyone ever have suspected murder in either case? Probably not."

• • •

THEY were sitting in the little study that overlooked the garden. The shelves of the rosewood escritoire were emptied of books now; its dropleaf closed.

"All ready to go to the auctioneer's?" suggested Basil.

"How did you know?"

"I was sure Brinsley Shaw wouldn't keep a large, old-fashioned house in town."

"You're right. He has asked me to sort and catalogue everything else so it can be sold."

"In going through all these things, have you found anything that throws light on Miss Shaw's relations with Duggan?"

Asks $10,000 For Wreck Injuries

A suit asking $10,000 damages for personal injury has been filed in circuit court by Edna King against Ashley Gardner. The plaintiff is represented by Edward J. Flynn and Harry G. Story, attorneys.

The plaintiff set forth that she was a passenger in an automobile driven by Gardner on Sept. 22, 1951, when a collision occurred east of this city between the car and a transport truck belonging to the Hayes Freight Lines. She charged that Gardner was operating his automobile in a wanton manner, and that he was under influence of intoxicating liquor.

Faces Charge Of Carrying Knucks

A pair of brass knucks and a pistol were seized by police Saturday morning when they arrested Walter Yates, 25, who was alleged to have been creating a disturbance on Cox street. The brass knucks were in one of Yates' pockets, and the pistol was in his automobile, according to officers.

Lieut. Howard Stout and Officer Hank Campbell placed the man under arrest. He said he lives near Springfield.

An information charging Yates with carrying a concealed weapon was filed in county court, where bond was fixed at $1,000. The prisoner was taken to the county jail in default of bond.

MORGAN - SCOTT HOME BUREAU NEWS

Chenille and candlewick bedspreads are the fashion these days. More than half of the bedspreads manufactured in the United States are of these typs, and top-quality ones usually carry a handsome price tag.

Bedspreads in general are poorly labeled. Since most stores stock more than one grade of quality, careful examination at the counter should be the rule.

If the spread is of muslin, it should be torn to size. Check the grain of the material as carefully as you would check grain of fabric for a garment.

Examine the weave of the material and select a spread that is closely woven and has the tufts closely spaced. The tufts should be of long fiber rather than short, and the design or pattern should be even.

Size of the bedspread is important. The measurements listed on the label give the size of the finished spread. However, if the material has not been preshrunk, an allowance of at least five or six inches should be made.

Good workmanship on seams, hems, fringes and other finishes adds to the wearability of the spread. If your choice is a fitted spread, be sure it is correct in size and shape for the bed.

Colored chenille and candlewick spreads are usually priced higher than the white or off-white ones. However, they do add color and brightness to the room and may be worth the extra money. Check the label for information regarding colorfastness to laundering.

Chicken, A Pennywise Meat

You can't go wrong with chicken, whether it's for the home folks or for special guests. There's a size and style to meet any need.

The supply of broilers on the market is nearly one-fourth larger now than it was at this time a year ago. That makes broiler prices lower than they were a year ago.

Most broilers are sold ready to cook, split along the backbone and through the breastbone. A good weight is one to two pounds, ready to cook.

Frying chickens are usually larger than broilers, ranging from one and one half to three pounds, ready-to-cook weight. Chicken that is cut up and ready for frying is a great convenience. You can buy an entire bird or special pieces, such as breasts, legs or wings, to suit your family. When the chicken is sold by the meaty portions cost more per pound than those with less meat, like the backs, necks and wings.

The bonier pieces, however, are especially good for stewing and soup making. Why not plan for extra amounts—if you buy whole chickens—and save the bonier pieces for a second meal?

Meet Your Family's Milk Needs

You can meet some of your family's milk needs by adding more cheese to your meals. If some members don't like milk, maybe they'll like cheese. Cheese has food value similar to that in milk. It contains protein, fat, calcium, riboflavin and vitamin A.

However, the nutrients are more concentrated in cheese than in milk. For example, a 1-inch or 1-ounce of American Cheddar cheese has about the same nutritional value as one cup of whole milk. Even a small amount of cheese added to your meals will help to meet protein and calcium needs.

Some people like their cheese mild, some like it nippy. Some want it used in a recipe and others like it "as is." American Cheddar cheese is popular with most people.

Try melting American cheese in white sauce, and use it as a sauce to give zip to vegetables. Or make a cheese souffle or fondue for a main supper dish.

Add grated cheese to the sifted dry ingredients of your biscuit or muffin recipe. Try sprinkling grated cheese over soups, or add small bits of cheese to a tossed vegetable salad or to potato salad. Salad dressing with grated cheese adds a tasty touch.

Then too, cheese makes a nice family snack. Use rippened cheese, American or Swiss or other varieties on crackers. Or dressup cottage or cream cheese with crushed pineapple or peaches and use as a spread.

Wins Pole Position For 500-Miler With Record-Setting Pace

By Dale Burgess

Indianapolis, May 17—(AP)—Freddy Agabashian of Albany, Calif., won the pole position for the 500-mile Memorial Day race Saturday with a record-smashing 138.010 miles an hour in the Cummins Diesel Special.

The Cummins, a new kind of car which has its oil-burning engine lying on its side, broke a record that had stood just five hours. Andy Linden of Los Angeles had moved the record up to 137.002 earlier in the afternoon in the Mericle Power Special.

Agabashian broke the lap record as well as the 10-mile record. His best lap was a sizzling 139.104 miles an hour.

Walt Faulkner of Long Beach, Calif., had set the one and four-lap records last year in an unsupercharged, four-cylinder Agajanian Special. His marks were 136.872 for the qualification and 138.122 for a lap.

Seven cars qualified in the first day's running, all at speeds above 135 miles an hour. Until last year no car ever had traveled that fast at the two and one-half mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Troy Ruttman of Lynwood, Calif., qualified Faulkner's 1951 record car at 135.364 today.

Duane Carter of Culver City, Calif., followed Agabashian on the track and put the Belanger Motors Special in the tentative lineup for the big race at 135.522.

Linden was fourth in last year's 500 in a different car.

Shifting, chilly winds and a threat of rain had no more effect on the drivers than on attendance.

Before Linden's scorcher, Jack McGrath of Glendale, Calif., qualified at 136.664 miles an hour in the Hinkle Special he raced to third place in the 1951 Memorial Day classic. That was second only to Faulkner's record until Linden ran. Jack B. Hinkle of Wichita, Kan., owns the four-cylinder car.

Sam Hanks, also of Glendale, qualified the Bardahl Special at 135.736, well over the 132.150 at which Johnny Parsons qualified the same car last year.

Duke Nalon of Fort Worth, Tex., who won the pole position last year with a record that stood only a week, qualified at 136.188 miles an hour in a V-8 Novi Pure Oil Special. It was a little slower than his 136.498 of last year.

FAN BREEZES

BY BOB MERRIS

In a word, miserable describes the weather which graced the two-day running of the annual Illinois high school track and field championships held at Champaign Friday and Saturday.

—o—

While we realize that it's silly to complain about weather, which nobody can do anything about, it might not hurt to describe it. A drizzling rain Friday dampened participants and spectators without discrimination. Then, semi-freezing weather set in early Saturday morning and the precipitation increased. A wonderful setting for a championship track meet at Memorial Stadium.

—o—

All the final results proved is that Chicago area boys were more used to the ugly weather. They took to the soggy cinders like ducks to a mill pond and ran away with most of the track honors.

—o—

Illinois track Coach Leo Johnson was one of the busiest individuals on campus. Besides guiding his Illini cindermen to a one-sided victory over Wisconsin in a dual meet Saturday morning, Leo engineered all the switches from stadium to armory caused by the ill-mannered weatherman.

—o—

Press coverage was held to a minimum by the absence of Western Union operators. Telephones were the only means of communication from trackside to the newspapers. We suggested carrier pigeons but were told that all fliers were weathered in for the weekend.

—o—

Little Leaguers take heed. Final tryouts will be conducted on the State hospital diamond this week, Spike Wilson has spoken. Spike will work with 12 year olds on Monday and Thursday of this week. He'll handle the 8-10 group on Tuesday, then take the 11 year olders on Wednesday and Friday.

—o—

Spike has lined up three coaches thus far. They are Bob Blazier, Clarence Neuner and Chick Henske. He needs one more but is willing to fill in himself until the right man comes along.

—o—

Spike will rate the players this week then begin practice games. The regular schedule will start June 9. Everybody out, shouts the umpire.

Wesleyan-Millikin Battle For CCI Crown

Illinois Wesleyan and Millikin, one up on each other for the current baseball season, aim at big games this Monday with the Little Nine baseball championship at stake.

The Titans, after dumping Millikin from its undefeated status by a 6-2 count, battle Wheaton college (3-3) while the Big Blue take on Elmhurst (0-7). If both teams are victorious, Millikin can count on at least a share of the CCI title. Wesleyan will still need a win over Illinois college Wednesday to climb into a co-championship berth.

Nine pennant race, which looked

If both teams falter, the Little Nine pennant race, which looked like a cut-and-dried affair a week ago, will have a third team, and possibly a fourth, sharing the title.

Augustana college, with its season's diamond chores completed and a won 6, lost 2 conference record, would automatically step in for a co-championship. Lake Forest (4-2) would still need wins over North Central and Illinois College.

The defending champion, Wheaton (3-3), was knocked out of contention by North Central as the Cardinals squeezed out a 4-3 verdict.

The Standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.
Millikin	6	1	.859	..
Illinois Wesl'an	5	1	.833	½
Augustana	6	2	.750	½

Postpone Game Until Monday

Coach Bob Kraushaar announced Saturday morning that the district baseball tournament playoff between Jacksonville and Taylorville high schools has been postponed to Monday night at Lanphier park in Springfield. The contest is scheduled for 7 p.m. (CST), which will be 8 p.m. in Springfield where Daylight Saving time is in effect.

Rain forced postponement of the game Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Jack Chesbro of the New York Yankees pitched 45 complete games in 1904.

Reds End Drought, Batter Phillies In 7-3 Contest

Philadelphia, May 17—(AP)— The Cincinnati Reds, led by Hank Edwards who had five hits for five times at bat, beat the Philadelphia Phillies this afternoon, 7-3, to end their own five-game losing streak and at the same time nip the Phillies' string of four consecutive victories.

Cardinals Nick Braves 5-4 To Square Series

Boston, May 17—(AP)—Al Brazle's relief chore today enabled Cliff Chambers to gain a 5-4 victory over the Boston Braves today as the St. Louis Cardinals squared the two-game series. Chambers was chased in the seventh inning when the Tribesmen tallied thrice on four singles and a wild pitch.

Motorcycle, Boat Races Here Today

Race fans take your pick! There is a choice of boat or motorcycle races here today.

Over 100 motorcycle dare devils will compete on the Morgan county fair grounds half-mile oval this afternoon. Time trials will start at 1 p.m. announced Bill Huston of the County Cavaliers, sponsors of the event.

The boats races, which may be viewed from the lake shore surrounding the Jacksonville boat club, will be the first on the Mid State association agenda for the season. Several local drivers will compete against boat jockeys from all over the mid west.

Time trials for the boats will also start at 1 o'clock.

Indians Win Diamond Debate From Senators

Cleveland, May 17 —(AP)— The Cleveland Indians gave pitcher Bob Lemon more runs today than in all six of his previous starts this season by blasting three Washington National pitchers for 16 hits and a 9-2 victory .

The barrage of base hits, which restored to the Indians their two and a half game lead over the second place Nats, included homers by Larry Doby, Jim Hegan and Luke Easter, accounting for six runs.

Winning Squad Scores 20 Points To Edge Favored Oak Park

By Bob Merris

Champaign—Lyons Township of LaGrange splashed to victory in the annual running of the Illinois high school track and field championships by racking up 20 points on the inundated Memorial Stadium cinder lanes Saturday afternoon.

The LaGrange athletes scored strongly in the dashes and relays to finish two points ahead of Oak Park, one of the favorites coaches by Bob Wright, former Roodhouse athlete and Jacksonville high school mentor.

Wendell Phillips of Chicago finished third with 17 points. New Trier of Winnetka had 12½ tallies and Evanston scored 12 to head the list of 41 Illinois schools that scored in the meet.

Carrollton was the only town in the Jacksonville area to break into this distinguished group. Lyndell Smith scored a fourth of a point for Harry Anderson's Hawks when he tied for fifth in the high jump with three others. His heighth was 5-9½.

If the Friday preliminaries, which put all six Jacksonville entries out of the running, were handicapped by bad weather, the Saturday finals were made almost impossible by a cold rain that fell without letup throughout the afternoon.

All field events were chased into the Armory while the cindermen were forced to weather the elements at Memorial Stadium.

Despite the handicap of mud puddles on the track, one record was set. George Moyers, a husky crew-cut blond from Hinsdale, barreled over the soggy cinders to a new 180-yard low hurdles record. Moyer scissored over the barriers in 19.7, one-tenth of a second better than the 1951 mark set by Willie Stevens of Phillips.

Other records remained unchanged. Vandalia's 250-pound Larry Staff was unable to surpass the shotput mark of 56-5½, after topping that standard by two and one half inches a week ago.

Upsets predominated in the meet. One of the big ones was the 100-yard dash victory by Nashville's Verne Sprehe, who came in three feet ahead of highly-favored Ned Lenoir of Phillips in 10.2.

In addition to winning the new mile relay event, in 3:28.2, which temporarily stands as a record, LaGrange also took the 440, finished second in both the high jump and 880, and placed fourth in the 880-yard relay which was won by Evanston.

LaGrange's mile baton-carriers were Dick Caffey, John Pendexter, Hal Caffey and Ben Johnson.

Finals—Running broad jump.

The Summary:

Broad jump—1. Jerry Kryger, Mt. Vernon, 22 feet, 5 inches; 2. Roger Severson, Ottawa, 22 feet 1½ inches; 3. Robert McKeiver, Evanston, 21 feet 9½ inches; 4. William Buyaki, Zeigler, 21 feet, 8½ inches; 5. John Durgin, Oak Park, 21 feet, 7½ inches.

Lenoir came through for Phillips by winning the 220, ahead of Dick Quisenberry of Springfield, in 22.4.

Chuck Matheny of Paris waded through the mile in 4:31.7. He captured the lead in the last 100 yards, beating out Waukegan's Larry Barrett by 15 feet.

Another downstate champion was Jack Agnew of Lincoln, who pole-vaulted 12-6, four inches higher than Dale Miller of Chenoa.

Mt. Vernon's Jerry Kryger won the broad jump with 22-5½, and Ken Meek of Hall (Spring Valley) took the discus throw with 150-8½.

Calvin Boyd of Oak Park is the high jump champ with a leap of 6-1 5/6.

The team title was stored in the Chicago area and the northern part of the state for the 27th straight year, a downstate team has not won since Danville and Eldorado tied in 1925.

Blue Man Is Easy Preakness Victor

By John Chandler

Baltimore, May 17 —(AP)— The favored Blue Man zoomed from tenth and last place with a brilliant burst of speed Saturday circled his field on the final bend. and bounced home with Jockey Conn McCreary to capture the $113,270 preakness stakes at Old Pimlico race course.

The strapping bay son of Blue Swords-Poppcock by identify, owned by the White Oak stable of Arthur W. Abbott, Rye, N.Y., ice cream maker and former baseball catcher, thus atoned for his third place in the Kentucky derby two weeks ago.

The preakness is one-third of racing's triple crown.

In romping under the wire with three and a half lengths to spare over the second horse, Max Kahlbaum's Jampol, Blue man also atoned in a measure for some of the things done to his father by the great Count Fleet in 1943.

For, in winning the 76th edition of his Maryland turf classic before a screaming crowd of 29,345, he soundly thrashed nine others, including Sub Fleet, who is the son of Count Fleet.

Sub Fleet, second to Hill Gail in the derby, was second choice in the betting at 5-to-2, but could do not better than fifth place.

Count Fleet had whipped Blue Swords in both the derby and preakness.

Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Count, another son of Count Fleet. Took third.

One Count managed the show spot by half a length over Primate, from the Starmount stable of E. B. Benjamin.

It was the second taste of preakness sweetness for McCreary, the 31-year-old halfpint jockey from Miami by way of his native St. Louis. McCreary got the "run for the black-eyed Susans" aboard Calumet farm's pensive in 1944.

Dodgers Trounce Pirates 12-7, Stay On Top

Brooklyn, May 17— —Ben Wade, 29-year-old rookie righthander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, started off like a house afire today but then cooled off as the Brooklyn Dodgers trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates, 12-7.

Wade allowed only one hit and fanned nine men in the first six innings but was tagged for four home runs in the last three frames as Pittsburgh made a belated bid.

Brown Rookies Spark Rally For 2-1 Win Over Sox

St. Louis, May 17 —(AP)— Three rookies—Jim Rivera, Bob Nieman and Clint Courtney—supplied three ninth-inning hits to give the St. Louis Browns a 2-1 triumph today, spoiling a seemingly winning mound performance by southpaw Mel Parnell of the Boston Red Sox.

Good Golf's Easy

Champ Makes Up For Bad Shot Or Round With Good One—Burke

Fourteenth of a series as told to Harry Grayson, NEA Sports Editor

By JACKIE BURKE
Golf's Newest Star

All good golfers hit the ball well, but only the stars have the ability to score.

Tre champion is the fellow who makes up for a bad shot or round with a good one.

He beats off bad breaks and errors to remain in contention.

Nearly 50 were ahead of Ben Hogan when he started the Hale America National Open at Chicago's Ridgemoor in 1942 with a 72. The champion came back with a 62.

Tied with Lew Worsham for the lead with 67s at the first tee of the second round of the United States Open at Riviera in 1948, Hogan hooked his drive badly.

Out of bounds, everybody thought, probably including Hogan.

Though his share in the lead was apparently vanishing, Ben just shrugged, and quietly said, "Boy, another ball, please."

As it turned out, the drive was in bounds by an inch or less, precariously perched way above Hogan's feet. He played a small safety shot off a barranca just beyond the drive zone, sent his third toward the green and scored a par 5.

On the next hole, Riviera's hardest par 4, 466 yards, he had a birdie 3.

In the Open Championship at Oakland Hills last July, Hogan wiped out the memory of morning 5s with birdie 3s.

"Texas day," Hogan smiled, as he warmed up on the first tee for the third round. He went out in 32. But he was 39 coming home, due in part to a 6 on the 15th. His 71 left him with 220. There were seven with that or better.

ROUGH STUFF—An unperturbed Ben Hogan blasts out of the rough. (NEA)

His 39 on the second nine aroused Hogan.

"I'm going to burn it up this afternoon," he said.

He had a par 35 going out. He came home in 32.

Discussing championship golf, you can confine yourself to Ben Hogan, and tell the whole story.

Illinois-Michigan Thinlies Top Big Ten

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 17 —(AP)— The deep and balanced track squads of Illinois and Michigan appear favorites in the 52nd running of the Western conference track and field championships here May 30-31.

The rugged Illinois squad won the Big Ten meet last year and since added the 1952 indoor championship.

Fourteen events are scheduled with the defending champions on hand for half of them.

Two 1951 record-makers will be out to better their marks. Michigan Capt. Don McEwen set a new mile mark of 4:09 and Cyrillo McSween of Illinois hit 47.7 in the 440 yard dash.

They'll be joined by many another potential record-breaker when the 250 athletes—cream of the Big Ten's track talent—gather on Ferry Field for the big meet.

Certainly one of the meet highlights will be the mile run, with eight entrants who have bettered 4:15. Joining with McEwen in the race will be such prominent distance stars as Len Truex, Ohio State; John Ross, Michigan; Denis Johannson, Purdue; Lawton Lamb, Illinois; Ted Wheeler, Iowa; Jim Kepford, Michigan State, and Frank Duis, Wisconsin.

That field may crack McEwen's record, with the estimates going all the way down to 4:07.

In the 880-yard run the 11-year-old mark of 1:51.3 set by Indiana's Campbell Kane will be endangered by such runners as indoor champion Henry Pryer of Illinois and Ross, Truex and Wheeler. In addition, Stacey Siders of Illinois, John Labrach of Indiana, and Dick Jarrett of Michigan State may get into the act.

The 440-yard run is expected to produce a sizzling race between defending champion McSween and Michigan's Jack Carroll, Iowa's Gary Scott and LeRoy Collins, Wisconsin.

Defending champ Joe Gonzalez of Illinois is rated the man to beat in the 220-yard event. The hurdles bring hot competition among Van Bruner of Michigan, Michigan State's John Corbelli, and Henry Gillis and Joel McNulty of Illinois.

Michigan's Milt Mean and Ron Mitchell of Illinois are both expected to outleap defending champion Jim Harper of Indiana in the high jump.

Among other expected standout battles is the one in the shot put shaping up between Bob Carey, All-American football player from Michigan State, and Fritz Nilsson of Michigan, who is also favored in the discus.

The meet will be a two-day affair, with Friday devoted to preliminary events and championship competition reserved for Saturday afternoon.

GRAINS SCORE LATE ADVANCE ON MARKET

Chicago, May 17— (AP) —Grains advanced toward the close on the Board of Trade today after spending most of the session knocking around previous closing levels. Trading picked up on the late advance.

A renewal of short-covering developed in the May contracts of wheat and soybeans. Lack of any moisture in the northwestern spring wheat belt overnight, and with none forecast for the week-end, stirred up a demand for deferred wheat deliveries.

On this point the Quaker Oat Company in its regular weekly crop summary, said, "the moisture condition in North Dakota and Northern Minnesota is considered serious now as small grains at this date should be up and off to a good start."

Receipts were: What 13 cars, corn 104, oats 29, rye 10, barley 30, and soybeans 35.

Wheat closed ⅛ to 1 cent higher, May $2.47⅛-⅜, corn ½-¾ higher, May $1.84⅜, oats ½-⅝ higher, May 75½-⅝, rye ½-¾ higher, May $1.99½, soybeans ½-1½ lower, May $3.03½-$3.03, and lard 3 to 13 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.00.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, May 17—(AP)—Hogs sold at nominally steady prices today at the end of the sharpest and most sustained three-week advance since February, 1947.

Gains this week ranged from $1.75 to $2.25. In the 18 days since April 28 the upturn has amounted to $4.00 to $5.25. This advance has been accompanied by a slump in receipts and a much improved market for wholesale pork. Some pork cuts have jumped back to OPS ceiling levels.

The top price at the week's close of $22.85 was the highest since August, 1951. It was the best price achieved by hogs in May in four years. Average drove cost for barrows and gilts was the highest since October, 1951.

The upswing in wholesale pork prices, which is bound to be reflected at the retail level, has taken place in spite of heavy storage holdings. Pork supplies of all kinds totaled 824 million pounds at the end of April, about 25 per cent more than last year and 50 per cent above average.

In the cattle section this week demand centered on steers grading good and below and on all grades of yearlings and light steers. These offerings closed strong to 75 cents higher. At the same time, choice and prime steers over 1,200 pounds were barely steady to weak and some types lost 25 cents.

With demand much broader than the supply of high good to prime lambs, either wooled or shorn, final prices for the week were 50 to 75 cents higher.

It is estimated that 30 million students were enrolled in U.S. schools in the 1950-51 school year.

Edistina Smith Marries Lester Roy At Ashland

Church Ceremony Held Saturday In Candlelight

Ashland—A candlelight ceremony at the Ashland Methodist church Saturday afternoon united in marriage Miss Edistina Smith and Lester Roy. The double ring service was read at 3 o'clock by Rev. W. J. Dean.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith of Ashland. Mrs. Luther Simpson of Springfield is the mother of the bridegroom.

A ten minute organ recital by Roy Salzman, bandmaster at the local high school, preceded the ceremony. Mrs. Dale DeGroot was the vocalist. Her selections were "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted by her father to the altar, where four baskets stood, filled with white flowers. A single candle burned on each side of the altar and between them was a golden cross.

Bride Wears White Satin

She was gowned in white satin. A lace yoke decorated the bodice, and the skirt fell in a train. She wore white mitts. From a crown of orange blossoms her illusion veil descended, fingertip length. Her bouquet of white flowers was streamered in white.

The bridesmaid was her sister, Mrs. Christine Gunderson. Her gown of pink net over satin was complemented by a blue bouquet, ribboned in blue.

The bridegroom wore his Navy uniform. Best man was Harry Sokolis, his uncle.

Dale DeGroot and Charles Woods served as ushers.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue, the bride's mother in brown. White carnations were worn by the members of the two families. Among them were the grandmothers of the bride and bridegroom.

Reception Follows

A reception for all the wedding guests was held in the church basement after the ceremony. A three tiered cake, iced in white and topped by a bridal archway, was the centerpiece of the serving table.

Punch was served with the wedding cake and two angelfoods by Mrs. Grover Lewis, Mrs. Lester Gabehart, Mrs. Alice DeGroot and Mrs. Jesse Douglas.

Later the couple left on a wedding trip. They will reside at Norfolk, Va., where the bridegroom is stationed.

Mrs. Roy attended Ashland schools. Prior to her marriage she was employed at Springfield. The bridegroom also attended local schools, while living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Lewis.

Steel Mills May Reopen

White House Says Defense Needs Critical

Washington, June 17—(AP)—"Considerable progress" toward getting some steel mills back into operation to meet critical defense needs was reported today by the White House.

The announcement came at a time when some munitions makers were saying they would have to shut down this week for lack of the metal cut off by the nation-wide strike.

John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, made the progress announcement and said it may be possible by tomorrow to give out a list of mills to be reopened.

Union officials said, when the strike began 15 days ago, that they would cooperate in production of steel needed to support the forces fighting in Korea.

Steelman did not indicate what tonnage of steel may be turned out for military needs nor what fraction of the industry may be reopened.

Meantime, Senate labor subcommittee today approved two bills for industry seizure in labor emergencies, but both of them had been turned down decisively by the Senate itself when they were offered as amendments to the bill extending the Defense Production Act. There was no indication they would do any better as separate legislation.

IHC To Lay Off 50,000 Employes

Chicago, June 17 —(AP)— International Harvester company announced Tuesday it will begin laying off some 50,000 production workers in six states starting June 27, because of metal shortages resulting from the steel strike.

A company spokesman said that by July 3 90 per cent of Harvesters operations will be closed down.

Advocate Death Of Wage Board

Washington, June 17 — (AP) — The House Labor committee tonight recommended outright abolition of the Wage Stabilization Board.

The board, set up to fight inflation by stabilizing wages in the defense emergency, has been under severe fire in Congress because of its recommendations in the steel dispute. It urged wage increases and other benefits, totaling 26.1 cents an hour, and the union shop.

Summing up a critical report on the board's activities, the labor committee made this one-line recommendation to the House:

"The Wage Stablization Board should be abolished."

The committee vote was reported to be 16 to 5.

Physicians Deny Sander's Petition

Manchester, N. H., June 17—(AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander, country doctor acquitted two years ago of a charge of killing a cancer patinet, tonight was refused permission for the second time, to resume practice in two Manchester hospitals.

The Hillsborough County Medical Society voted 45-40 in favor of the 43-year-old Candia physician but he needed a two-thirds majority to be re-admitted. The vote fell 10 short of the necessary 55 votes.

He was suspended from the society shortly after his acquittal in March, 1950. Membership in the group is required before a physician may practice in the hospitals.

Dr. Sander's first application also fell short of the two third majority.

RESIDENT FINDS STREET REPAIR JOB INEXPENSIVE

Austin, Minn., June 17—(AP)—C. R. Hansen, Austin businessman, pleaded with the city and state for two years to repair a hole in the paving in front of his store.

Today Hansen took matters into his own hands and in just 14 minutes made the repair at a cost of $2.

Hansen said it took him seven minutes to clean out the hole and another seven minutes to pour in and smooth out $1.70 worth of ready-mixed concrete. Then he mounted a 30 cents red flag on a barricade of old crates.

Last year vibration from trucks hitting the hole shattered a $300 plate glass window, Hansen said.

TWO MINERS KILLED

Belleville, Ill., June 17—(AP)—Two men were killed today by a rockfall at the St. Louis and O'Fallon Coal Co. mine about five miles north of here.

They were Joseph Homyak, 61, of East St. Louis (1822 Natalia st.) and Forest Odom, 32, of Belleville (730 S. 12th st.).

Phony Officer Gets Knetzer Out Of Jail

Springfield, Ill., June 17—(AP)—With the help of a phony U. S. marshal who fooled the Springfield city jailer, Robert L. Knetzer, bankrupt Edwardsville auto dealer, broke jail today.

It was the second time in three months that Knetzer escaped federal custody.

U. S. Attorney Howard Doyle said Police Chief Ben Little has suspended Jailer Melvin Palmer and will charge him with neglect and disobedience.

The FBI is investigating the escape which Doyle said was worked by a stocky, gray haired, ruddy faced man dressed in a light gray suit and a soft straw hat.

Doyle related that the man came to the city jail which houses federal prisoners at 3:30 a.m. and told Palmer he was a U. S. marshal. He identified himself as George Hulen and said he wanted to take Knetzer out of jail until tonight.

Phony Credentials

"The phony marshal showed Melvin Palmer, the night jailer, a folder which purported to be his identification. Palmer's description of the folder shows that it was in no wise a folder carried by a marshal," Doyle said.

Knetzer was serving an indefinite jail sentence given by Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle in connection with the auto dealer's bankruptcy.

Doyle said Palmer wakened Knetzer, who dressed and said "all right" when he saw Hulen.

Knetzed and his deliverer left by the jail's back door and have not been seen since, Doyle said.

On Force 17 Years

Palmer has been on the Springfield police force for 17 years. He has been a jailer for about a year and a half.

"The jailer had been advised that no one could see Knetzer at any time except his lawyer and his wife," Doyle said.

Last March, Knetzer eluded two special federal bailiffs who took him to St. Louis on a trip to raise funds for his creditors. He surrendered after five days of freedom.

Knetzer's fabulous career started with a multi-million dollar auto sales scheme in 1947. He sold newused autos when late models were hard to obtain.

Captured Pilot Returns Home; Mum On Escape

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—An Illinois war pilot who spent 40 days in Red territory after he was shot down in Korea, came home today but the miracle of his escape remained a military secret.

Gaunt and 35 pounds lighter, Col. Albert W. Schinz, 33, of Ottawa, Ill., stepped from a commercial airlines plane at Midway airport into the arms of his wife, Lorayne, 26.

He declined to say how he made his way back to safety after his jet plane was shot down during a skirmish with the enemy May 1. He said the story, "a thriller," probably would be released in Washington after he has made an official report to the air force.

The air force reported Schinz missing after the May 1 air flight. But 40 days later he showed up in Japan and telephoned his pretty wife that he was safe.

A veteran of World War II, Schinz holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and the Silver Cross. He directed the first flight of jet planes to Europe in 1950 and has served in Korea since last January.

The Schinz' have two children, Penny Jean, 4, and Fritz, 2.

Soviets Plan East German Conscription

Berlin, June 17—(AP)—Communist leaders, pushing hard to wreck western Germany's entrance into the West's defense system, drafted today a law conscripting East Germans into a powerful army. Swift legislative approval seemed certain.

The intent was plain: convince West Germans that their military alliance with the western powers must be rejected or the divided German people will be plunged into a "murderous war between brothers."

The proposed conscription law was unanimously approved last week by all five East German parties, dominated by the Socialist Unity (Communist) party.

"Endangers Peace"

Today these five parties told East Germany's 18 million people that "whoever is not ready to take up arms against the attackers of peace encourages the attacker and endangers peace."

Communist master minds apparently view conscription and the building of an East German people's army of possibly 375,000 troops as their strongest weapon in trying to force Britain, France and the United States into another Big Four conference. The Reds feel this might strain the western alliance and possibly seriously delay, if not scuttle, the European army treaty. This treaty, not yet ratified, brings West German soldiers in on the side of the West.

West German generals plan to raise armed forces totalling 520,000 men.

Approved By Hitler Group

The East zone remilitarization drive received a powerful boost today from many high officers of Hitler's army who went for Communism after they were captured in Russia. They hastened to sign an appeal to all former Nazis and militarists in East Germany to join the new army and to those in West Germany to back Russia's fight to unify all Germany on her terms.

Chinese Cannon And Infantrymen Assail Hill T

Seoul, Wednesday, June 18—(AP)—Allied troops held a western Korean height Tuesday under some of the heaviest Communist shelling of the war, then smashed Chinese assaults which left Red dead piled on the slopes.

An Allied front line officer reported a still incomplete count showed 1,000 Chinese killed or wounded around the height, known as "Hill T" on the front west of Chorwon.

The Reds showed signs early today of slackening their attacks after six furious days of trying to recapture the hill mass. It overlooks an invasion route to Seoul, 50 miles to the south.

Red infantry had attacked in battalion strength—about 750 men—three times in three hours after Communist artillery rained thousands of shells on the three Allied-held knobs of the hill.

The Reds lost more than 1,000 men in futile assaults on the hill mass after the 45th division captured it last week.

Allied fighter-bombers swept down in support of the dug-in doughboys.

Sporadic artillery exchanges continued throughout Tuesday. But clouds and rain began to hamper fighter-bomber strikes along the front.

Elsewhere along the front Tuesday only relatively minor patrol raids were reported.

TRUMAN PROCLAIMS INDEPENDENCE DAY

Washington, June 17—(AP)—President Truman today called upon the nation to observe the Fourth of July as a day of prayer at a time "of national crisis when we are striving to strengthen the foundations of peace and security."

The president issued a proclamation under legislation enacted in April authorizing a day of prayer.

House Votes To Ease Radio Smear Liability

Washington, June 17 —(AP)— The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill relieving radio stations from liability for any defamatory speeches political candidates may make over the air.

Another section of the bill prohibits discrimination against newspapers seeking broadcasting licenses.

Passage was by voice vote after the House specifically rejected a proposal to let radio stations partly censor political speeches and to hold the stations liable for defamatory statements made in such speeches.

The House also refused, by voice vote, to knock from the bill a provision saying the fact that an applicant owns a newspaper or is associated with one shall not be grounds to deny him a permit to operate a radio station.

The legislation passed makes numerous changes in the federal communications laws. It is similar to a bill already passed by the Senate but must go back to the Senate for action on House changes.

The amendment relieving radio stations from civil or criminal liability for statements made by political candidates was adopted by a standing vote of 92 to 27.

It specifically prohibits a broadcasting station from censoring the content of a candidate's speech and makes the station liable for suit only if it wilfully participates "with intent to defame" in any libelous utterances made by the candidate. This liability would apply presumably in the case of a station staff employee participating in a political broadcast.

The amendment also provides that if a station allots radio time to one candidate or his authorized spokesman, it must give comparable time to rival candidates or their spokesmen.

There is nothing in the amendment prohibiting a radio station from refusing time to all candidates.

Pentagon Leaders Ask $250 Million To Finish Bases

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Pentagon leaders told senators today they urgently need a quarter of a billion dollars to complete European air bases for speedy atomic attacks on any aggressor nation.

Without adequate bases, they said, the threat of U. S. power as a means of preserving peace "is seriously impaired."

Secretary of the Air Force Finletter and Deputy Secretary of Defense Foster protested House action in eliminating 250 million dollars from a bulky military construction bill, needed to pay the U. S. share in cost of air bases for North Atlanti Treaty Organization forces.

House members said these funds could come from foreign aid allocations. They passed a $2,758,318,000 construction measure last Thursday.

Most of the funds would go to the air forces to build bases in this country and around the world.

Foster and Finletter testified behind closed doors as a Senate armed services subcommittee began hearings on the bill.

Capital Voters Pick Harriman Over Kefauver

Washington, June 17— (AP) —The first nine precincts to report gave Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman 2,120 votes to 737 for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in today's Democratic presidential primary in the District of Columbia.

The district has 45 precincts in all. It sends 12 delegates, with six votes, to the Democratic convention in Chicago. Primary voting is as close as residents of the capital get to self-rule.

Six of the first nine precincts counted were predominantly Negro. Harriman and Kefauver were running more evenly in the three mostly white populated precincts counted.

Harriman made a strong appeal for Negro votes here by plumping for a Fair Employments Practices Commission (FEPC) with compulsory powers.

Kefauver pinned his campaign to a promise that if he is elected president he will urge home rule for the nation's capital, now governed by congress.

The vote was the heaviest remembered here in any party contest. Mrs. Katie Louchheim, Democratic elections committee chairman, said approximately 15,000 voted.

Ridgway Denies Germ Warfare

Rome, June 17 —(AP)— A strong denial, intended to answer once and for all Communist charges of germ warfare, was voiced today by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

But Palmiro Togliatti, secretary of Italy's Communist party, went right on repeating the charges and threatened another Nuernberg trial for bacteriological "war criminals."

Ridgway, the new Atlantic pact commander in Europe, spoke at the airport enroute to Naples after two days of Communist efforts to whip up anti - Ridgway demonstrations here had fizzled.

"As the former commander in chief of the United Nations command in Korea, as God is my witness, I tell you that no element of that command employed any form of germ warfare at any time and that all the so-called proofs, including photographs, were manufactured by the Communists themselves," said Ridgway. He read from a prepared statement.

AFTER 8 YEARS CALIFORNIA MAN GETS NOSEY

San Francisco, June 17 —(AP)— Eight years ago a friend left a suitcase with Ernest Bihlmaier and told him "be careful with it; don't drop it."

For eight years Bihlmaier was careful. Monday he opened the suitcase. It contained a foot long bomb and a hand grenade—souvenirs of World War II.

Army demolition experts, Bihlmaier said, reported both were live.

SUPREME COURT CLERK DIES

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Charles Elmore Cropley, clerk of the Supreme court, died today at the Naval hospital in Bethesda, Md. He was 57.

Chief Justice Vinson announced the death, stating that Cropley, "from page boy to clerk has served the court 44 years with ability and distinction."

Soviets Say Ship Downed In Defense

Stockholm, Sweden, June 17—(AP)— Russia claimed tonight that a Swedish plane shot down by Soviet jet fighters in the Baltic sea yesterday opened fire on the Russians first.

The tempo of Swedish anger and anti-Soviet demonstrations here already had quickened when the Russian cldim was made on the Moscow radio. The Swedish government gave its air-sea forces orders to shoot back at any further Soviet attacks.

The government has stated the Swedish plane was unarmed and on a mercy mission searching for another Swedish plane missing in the Baltic and believed to be another victim of the Russian jets.

Prime Minister Tage Erlander protested the air-sea incident in strong language to the Russian ambassador Monday.

Note To Sweden

Moscow said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky handed the Swedish ambassador in Moscow a note alleging the Swedish plane flew over Russian territory, opened fire on Soviet fighters when ordered to land, and flew out to sea after the Soviet fighters returned the fire. Shooting down of the Swedish plane has angered Swedes like nothing else in years. As news of the Russian version was broadcast from Moscow a revenge-minded mob was demonstrating in front of the Russian embassy.

Mounted police drove off the crowd after some threw firecrackers at the grey stone building.

Fire Back Orders

Earlier in the day the government had ordered Sweden's sailors and airmen to fire back if attacked while searching for the first plane, which is still missing.

There was no immediate official reaction to the Russian charges.

Retired Chicago Cop Admits Slaying Son

Chicago, June 17 —(AP)— A city fireman was shot and killed tonight in his home during a quarrel with his father, a retired city policeman.

The victim was Roger C. Hopewell, 30, father of three.

Police held for questioning Hopewell's father, Harry A., 67, who retired in 1947 after 32 years with the police department.

Lieut. Herman Dorf said Hopewell in an oral statement admitted he shot his son, giving this account:

He was quarreling with his son's wife, Margaret, about his drinking, and when his son entered the argument he got his service revolver and fired three shots.

Hopewell said he had been living with his son's family since the couple's marriage.

Attorneys' Fees Cut Upon Appeal

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—The U. S. court of appeals cut $150,000 from the fees of lawyers in a stock dividend case today and criticized attorneys' "extreme liberality to themselves."

The action involved fees of attorneys representing two groups of stockholders of the Chicago and Great Western railway.

In May, 1951, Federal Judge John P. Barnes approved a settlement giving the stockholders certain back dividends. At the same time, he reduced fees sought by the attorneys.

The case was appealed and the appellate court, in its decision today, reduced the fees still further — from $500,000 to $350,000 — and said even that figure seems a little high.

The opinion was written by Judge Walter C. Lindley, and concurred in by Chief Judge J. Earl Major and Judge F. Ryan Duffy.

HYPNOTIZED IN 1949 BRITON STILL SUFFERS

London, June 17—(AP)—A 12-year-old girl still suffers the effects of being hypnotized three years ago, a House of Commons committee on hypnotism was told today.

Furthermore, said Dr. Somerville Hastings, a draftsman hypnotized in 1950 falls asleep whenever someone whistles the tune, "So Tired."

Dr. Hastings, a Socialist member of parliament and a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, cited these incidents as proof of the danger of stage or vaudeville hypnotism.

The Commons committee is preparing a bill to regulate stage hypnotism in Britain and to make it an offense to perform any act of hypnosis unless by special permit.

Ike Slaps Isolationist Label On Taft

Denver, June 17 — (AP) — Gen. D. Eisenhower told a small handpicked group of correspondents today he will win the Republican presidential nomination in Chicago next month over Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, whom he called an "Isolationist."

This statement was made at an almost-secret luncheon arranged by a few reporters. Others heard of the meeting and crashed the party.

Reliable reports from the luncheon and from other sources in Eisenhower's official party disclosed that Eisenhower has stated:

1. He favors government pump priming and federal works projects to bolster the nation's economy in time of depression.

2. He does not favor any more generals at this time being raised to five-star rank.

3. He does not believe a foreign policy plank can be drafted for the Republican party platform which would be acceptable both to himself and to Senator Taft.

4. He is extremely bitter about the whispering campaign that he says has been directed against himself and his wife, Mamie.

5. He complained that his remarks about a 40 billion dollar cut in the budget had been "taken from context" and misinterpreted by Taft people. He does think there can be a considerable reduction in taxes when the defense needs slack off.

GOP Committee Names Author, Dulles Advisers

Washington, June 17 —(AP)— Sen. Eugene D. Millikin, chairman of the resolutions committee for the Republican national convention, today announced the appointment of John Foster Dulles and Clarence Budington Kelland as special advisers.

He described Dulles as "one of our party's outstanding experts in the field of foreign policy" and recalled that Kelland, "one of our ablest writers," had a major part in preparation of a 1950 statement of Republican principles and objectives worked out by GOP congress members and others.

In an interview which preceded the announcement of the appointments, Millikin promised that the platform will be "as brief as possible and as lengthy as necessary."

"Any Republican should be able to run on it," he said.

Millikin plans to leave here at the end of this month and set up platform committee headquarters in the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago.

He expressed the hope that hearings on platform issues can be completed July 1 and 2 and the document itself can be ready before the convention opens July 7.

Early Rye, Barley Stands Harvested In Little Egypt

Springfield, Ill., June 17—(AP)—Only 2 per cent of the state's corn crop remains to be planted, the Illinois weekly weather and crop bulletin said today.

Germination of corn and soybeans was described as retarded and uneven in many instances and more replanting than usual has been necessary. About 95 per cent of the soybean acreage has been planted.

The bulletin said half of the first crop of alfalfa and more than two-fifths of the clover has been cut. Small grain harvest is just under way, with a few early fields of barley and rye having been cut in southern Illinois.

Harvest of transparent apples will start this week in the Jackson-Johnson county area. The crop is expected to be large and of good quality.

Long Island Railroad Strike Ends

New York, June 17 —(AP)— A two-day strike of Long Island railroad engineers was settled today, after it stranded 150,000 commuters in one of the worst transportation tieups in New York history.

The 350 striking engineers and motormen on the nation's busiest passenger line agreed to return to work during the evening. Full service was expected in time for the morning rush hour.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (Ind.) struck the LIRR yesterday before dawn.

A colossal traffic jam resulted yesterday as commuters scrambled into the city by highway, bus and subway. It was intensified today. Many who stayed home yesterday came in to work today.

On top of everything else, an early pea soup fog made driving a tricky matter on packed parkways between Manhattan and Long Island. And the season's most humid day added to the woes of sweltering mobs crammed in record numbers into subways and busses.

The strike settlement came too late to save the city one of th worst subway crushes in history at the late afternoon home-going rush hour.

Peace talks between the railroad and the union broke down last night. But federal mediator Ross Barr got the two sides back together again this afternoon.

The truce agreement was signed jointly by William Wyer, a federal court trustee for the LIRR, and M. E. McMahon, general manager of the Brotherhood.

Wages were not a strike issue. The engineers objected to rules changes under a national railway strike settlement of last May. They claimed the changes threatened their seniority and their jobs.

Terms of the settlement were not announced at once.

Cooler Weather For Most U.S., Southeast Hot

By The Associated Press

A cool front moving into the east brought relief from high heat to millions of Americans Tuesday.

But it still was hot and humid in the southeastern quarter of the nation.

The heat wave that once had enveloped more than half of the U.S. cost the lives of 130 persons in a five-day period. The toll included 19 whose deaths were attributed directly to the oppressive weather and 111 who drowned.

The record June heat siege appeared to be a matter for history in St. Louis. The big city on the Mississippi had checked off 12 successive days with readings of 90 or higher. But the temperature was only 80 there at noon Tuesday.

Cooler air advanced as far as the eastern end of the Great Lakes region during the day. There were scattered showers and thunderstorms in that area.

FIND SOLDIER'S BODY IN LAKE DECATUR

Decatur, Ill., June 17 —(AP)— A search crew dragging Lake Decatur today found the body of William Willis, 17-year-old Decatur soldier who had been stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Willis went swimming with friends yesterday.

Police said his companions noticed his absence but thought he might have gone off with other friends. They didn't report him missing until today.

Army Allows Free Rein In Politics

By Roger D. Greene

Washington, June 17—(AP)— The Army decided today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur can go ahead and keynote the Republican national convention without violating the ban against political activity by military personnel.

The army explained that the no-politics order was meant to apply only to persons "engaged either in the formulation of military policy or in the execution of any of the tasks of the army."

MacArthur has remained on the active list but has not been assigned any "tasks" since President Truman fired him as supreme Far East commander 14 months ago.

Without mentioning MacArthur by name, the army said that when officers holding five-star rank are not assigned any duties, "they are considered to be in a status similar to retired officers" and therefore not subject to the prohibition against political activivties.

This interpretation of the rules was designed to get the army off a spot which has caused much wrinkling of foreheads at the Pentagon. On the one hand was the rule barring army personnel on active duty from taking part in political conventions, or other political activities. On the other hand was the prospect that if the army took any steps to curb MacArthur there would be an indignant outcry from his admirers.

G.O.P. Keynoter

The selection of MacArthur as GOP keynoter has drawn angry protests from the camp of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the ground that the keynoter should be completely free of bias toward any of the party's candidates.

MacArthur has openly supported Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower's chief rival for the Republican presidential nomination.

As keynoter, or lead-off orator, MacArthur would be in a position to whip up enthusiasm for the man of his choice.

With Pay

Today's statement by the army indicated that Eisenhower, like MacArthur, could have remained on the active list and received the $19,541.84 annual pay of a five-star general while campaigning for the GOP nomination.

Eisenhower retired from the active list, however, and gave up his pay when he stepped down as supreme allied commander in Europe on June 1 to press bid for the presidency.

In Denver, an Eisenhower spokesman said the general declined to comment on the army's ruling.

Maine's Governor Beats Brewster By 3,000 Margin

Portland, Me., June 17—(AP)—Unless Maine's political heavens fall, Frederick G. Payne will climb into a Republican U. S. Senate seat directly from his gubernatorial chair.

Payne, 51, called to a halt the two-term Senate career of Owen Brewster, 18 years in national politics, with a slim 3,000-vote victory Monday in Maine's hottest-fought primary election of three decades.

Roger P. Dube, a surprise Democratic primary winner, will oppose Payne next Sept. 8 in general balloting which hasn't yielded Maine Democrats a major office since 1934.

Potato Shortage Ends Throughout The Nation

By The Associated Press

New York, June 17—(AP)—The big potato shortage of 1952 has passed into history.

An Associated Press survey found spuds plentiful today in markets from coast to coast. Prices in many places had dropped as much a one-third from the highs reached soon after potato price ceilings were suspended about two weeks ago.

In New York, Chicago and several other cities, wholesale prices already were back at or near the old ceilings. A nation-wide retail food chain was selling five pounds of potatoes for 25 cents—compared with 45 cents last weekend and its average ceiling of 33 cents two weeks ago.

Some dealers said the price cutting wasn't over yet. And an agriculture department market reporter in New York predicted it might be another week before prices levelled off and became stable. This view was not unanimous, however.

The shortage that had kept potato bins almost empty for months began after farmers sharply reduced their potato acreage when the government abandoned its potato price supporting last year. Unfavorable weather in growing areas delayed crops, too.

Then the Office of Price Stabilization slapped ceilings on potatoes. Black markets and tie-in selling practices (requiring a buyer to purchase unwanted vegetables for the privilege of getting spuds) developed in the scramble for the tight supplies. Many legitimate dealers withdrew from trading, saying they couldn't obtain potatoes at the legal prices.

When the price controls were dropped early this month, legal prices soared—to the highest levels in more than a quarter-century in some markets. Growers rushed to get their crops out of the ground and take advantage of the high prices. Behind-schedule crops began to mature at about the same time. The result: sudden abundance.

CUT RATE RAIL FARES

After some preliminary backing and filling, a group of 14 eastern railroads has announced a series of group and family fares which will become effective before the end of the month. These roads have fallen in line with plans announced earlier by the New York Central.

Under a "family" plan, children under 12 can ride free while those under 16 can ride for half fare when accompanied by an adult who has bought a round trip coach ticket. Three or more adults, or a couple and two children, can get a 25 per cent fare reduction.

In recent years the only dispensation the railroads have offered was the military furlough rate, and, despite successively higher rates granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to meet increased wages and other costs, passenger revenues continued to lag.

Meanwhile the airlines had offered attractive fare cuts, air coach rates, and other inducements which succeeded in boosting the number of passenger miles flown steadily upward.

This frank bid for vacation business should have favorable repercussions for the railroads. For the first time since the war the upward trend in the price of rail travel is being reversed. This may prove to be one of the best pieces of public relations which the railroads have tried.

MEDICAL SCHOOL AID

How to keep the nation's 79 medical schools going when prospects of further endowment grow slimmer and slimmer and the cost of educating a doctor rises to $7,000 more than he pays in tuition is a serious problem, indeed. It is, of course, a phase of the more widespread difficulties which beset the privately endowed colleges and universities throughout the country. President Dodds of Princeton recently pleaded that they be maintained as "islands of independence without political accountability," so that education could remain unfettered by dependence on federal subsidy.

Fortunately for the medical schools, there is already established a National Fund for Medical Education, which last year made "preliminary grants" of $1,600,000. And yet, if these schools are not to depend upon Federal subsidy and be under bureaucratic control, they cannot depend upon the ebb and flow of contributions by the public, but must have assurance of dependable year-to-year income. That is the objective of the Committee of American Industry for this national fund, whose chairman, Colby M. Chester, has mailed appeals to 17,000 corporations, seeking to enlist their support.

Says Mr. Chester:

"Government intervention into this traditionally private field could spell the kiss of death for academic freedom and would most assuredly add to the alarming degree of Socialism that is ours in America today."

S. Sloan Colt, president of the fund, insisted that without enough competent doctors—we need more now than ever before—the gains of medical research in recent years "will be minimized if not entirely nullified."

The 79 medical schools have been graduating 6,000 doctors a year and giving refresher courses to 23,000 others to keep them abreast with recent progress of medical science.

Back of this movement can clearly be seen the fear that Federal subsidy to medical education would be the entering wedge for socialized medicine like that in Great Britain.

EXODUS TO EUROPE

To judge from the demands for steamship and plane accommodations, tens of thousands of Americans are convinced the immediate danger of war is not too great. Europe this summer will draw several hundred thousand visitors. Their purposes are, of course, varied.

Most of these tourists want to spend their vacations in Europe. Some go as students, some on business. But all of them whatever their purpose, are undeterred by war alarms.

Perhaps this shows that Americans are learning to live in an unstable world, in which there is no real peace. Each tourist, in the impressions he makes abroad and in those he brings home can in his individual sphere contribute to mutual understanding, one of the basic elements of peace.

NEW YORK (AP)—Papa-San is taking it on the chin in Japan. "Honorable Father" is slowly losing his old-age power over Mama-San, or "Honorable mother." The theory of male dominance is setting in the Land of the Rising Sun, just as it set in America a generation ago.

Soon the hand that rocks the cradle will rule the roost in Old Nippon, just as it now does in most of the Western world.

The twilight of Far Eastern manhood was forecast in a recent dispatch from Futakawa village on the Japanese island of Honshu.

The village elders there, bowing to changing times, voted that woman were to have a holiday the 15th of each month, on which day men will wash, cook, and do all the other household chores.

In a lame justification of this retreat from traditional masculine authority, the elders told the women they were expected to use their holidays to "elevate their cultural standards."

But if they really think Mama-San is going to spend her new leisure studying flower arrangements—well, they just don't know Mama-San.

"I will lay these village wise men 3-to-1 odds that before the year is out Mama-San will be going into politics, organizing softball teams, and learning to play canasta and blow smoke rings through her nose."

The odds are heavy also that Mama-San will live up to an old Western proverb holding that if you give a woman an inch she will take a mile.

Traditionally, a Japanese wife was known as "The Pearl of the Orient." She had no legal rights, her husband could divorce her merely by writing her a three-line note, and when she went out with her lord and master she was supposed to walk two paces behind him.

If I were a young Japanese psychiatrist, I believe I'd hang up my shingle in Futakawa. The Mama-Sans, weighted with the strange new worries of leisure, ought to be a gold mine.

JOHNSON ★ IN HOLLYWOOD ★

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—(NEA)—New stars are rising to shine from the nation's movie screens. Here are thumbnails of four of the outstanding newcomers.

Suzanne Cloutier:: Lana Turner was discovered on a Hollywood drug store stool and French-Canadian Suzanne Cloutier was discovered by a model agent sitting at a lunch counter in New York's Grand Central Station. Then movie makers discovered her on the cover of Vogus magazine.

She has starred in four European-made films—"The Sinners," "Othello," in which she plays Desdemona, "Juliet," filmed in France, and "Derby Day," an English comedy with Michael Wilding and Anna Neagel.

Now it's a Hollywood career at Paramount for Suzanne, the only daughter of a high foreign government official to be signed to a Hollywood contract, other than Sarah Churchill. Her father is Edmund Cloutier, the Queen's Printer of Canada.

If there's a revival of the old song hit, "Five-Foot Two," Suzanne can take the bows. She's five-foot two with—yes—eyes of blue.

GUN-SHY "SOLDIER"

Neville Brand: The nation's fourth most decorated soldier of World War II, who reaches star magnitude in the film version of "Stalag 17," after playing featured roles in eight movies.

Big, husky and tough, Neville became an actor to forget his harrowing war experiences from 1939 to 1945, which included the Dieppe raid. He was born in Kewanee, Ill., and joined the First Ranger Battalion when he graduated from high school.

Says Neville: "I figured acting would take me away from guns. So now I'm always cast as a soldier or a killer and I've never even played a scene with an actress. What do you have to do to get to kiss a girl in a movie?"

• • •

Rosemary Clooney: Rosemary skyrocketed to fame with her recording of "Come On 'a My House." Now she's making her film debut in Paramount's "The Stars Are Singing." She was born in Marysville, Ky., where her grandfather was the perennial mayor.

A radio singing career in Cincinatti, O., a tour with Tony Pastor's orchestra, a TV program, "Songs for Sale," and "Come On 'a My House" put Rosemary's name in bright lights. But she still blushes about the William Saroyan novelty number which became the nation's top tune in 1951.

Rosemary says: "I didn't want to record the song. I didn't think it would be a hit."

FULL STEAM AHEAD

Jack Kelly: Brother of actress Nancy Kelly, with a "full-steam-ahead" sticker on his file in UI's young talent bank. He began his career as a child in New York, modeling for clean face soap ads and playing kiddie roles in Broadway plays.

When he reached the leading man age, he came to Hollywood "cold," as he puts it, and landed a small part in RKO's "Where Danger Lives." UL's "Bronco Buster" and "Red Ball Express" are meatier acting assignments.

"I don't like to be referred to as Nancy's brother," Jack groans. "I want to stand on my own name."

• • •

Richard Egan: Three years in the school of drama at Stanford University won Richard an MA degree in theater history and dramatic literature and a chance in Hollywood. Now he believes that dramatic training can sometimes be a handicap to screen success:

"It's more important for a young actor to project his personality onto the screen than to act."

Dick's big break came as Bob Mitchum's executive officer in "One Minute to Zero." And now Edmund Grainger, who produced the film, is saying:

"Egan has the quality to be either a hero or a heavy on the screen—the combination that made stars of Clark Gable, Vic Mature, Kirk Douglas and Bob Ryan."

WHAT'S RIGHT

A friend starts to tell you a long, involved story that she has told you before.

WRONG: Feel you must pretend that you are hearing it for the first time.

RIGHT: Say: "Oh, yes, you told me about that." The one time when it is really necessary to listen to the same person tell the same story to you is when the person is old and forgetful. Then you would embarrass him by saying that he had told you the story before.

Studies Continue, but No Sure Remedy for Psoriasis Is Known

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN
Written for NEA Service

The frequency with which I receive inquiries concerning psoriasis (prounounced with the p silent) is evidence of how badly more information is needed on this curious skin disease. L. W. writes, for example, "Please tell me what causes psoriasis, and is there a known cure?"

These are $64 questions since the exact cause of psoriasis is not known and there is, as yet, no cure. So far as cause is concerned, it is known that several members of the same family may be afflited, but just why is not clear.

It is also known that psoriasis is quite often associated with certain kinds of arthritis, though here again just what the connection is between the two conditions is uncertain.

Psoriasis, because of its peculiar appearance, is a source of a good deal of worry to those who have it, but although one physician has written me concerning serious complications from the disease, it is generally considered relatively harmless so far as life and general health are concerned.

If the psoriasis starts suddenly there is likely to be severe itching. In the more chronic cases (which are more frequent) there is little or no itching. Those parts of the skin which have become involved for a long time generally become covered with a thick scale. When the sale is scraped off, tiny bleeding spots appear underneath.

Many treatments are being used for psoriasis. Most of them produce good results the first time they are tried, but too often the improvement turn out to be only temporary, and when it is repeated the good results that happend the first time fail the second.

REMEDIES INCLUDE COAL TAR

The remedies most often used by skin specialists for psoriasis include ointment containing coal tar, exposure to ultraviolet rays (psoriasis is usually better in the summer) and X-rays. Almost every year, too, there is a report of some new and "better" treatment, but as yet there is none which has stood up and really does the job for everybody without any failures.

Some day the right treatment will come, but until it does, psoriasis will be discouraging to treat for patient and doctor alike. However, it is being carefully studied and some greatly improved treatment could come at any time.

Learn to Be Self-Reliant Now, Before It Becomes Necessary

"Teach your wife to be a widow," says an article in a national magazine, which points out to husbands the importance of giving their wives experience in managing family finances.

In matters of finance husbands can teach their wives how to be able to get along alone.

But in other ways a wife has to teach herself how to be a widow.

While she is still young she should be learning in all kinds of ways how to stand on her own feet.

Yet many women act as though Jim or Bill would always be around to look after them.

There's Jane, who is afraid to stay in the house alone at night, and has never done anything to overcome her fear.

There's Sue, who lets her husband do all her thinking for her; who never bothers to reason out anything for herself.

There's Mamie, who hasn't yet learned how to enjoy being alone; who is perfectly miserable if her husband is away for the evening.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL YOU ARE A WIDOW

And there's Doris, who can't make a simple decision without advice. There's Mable, who is so wrapped up in her family she hasn't bothered to make friends of her own, or to discover any interests outside of her husband and her children.

All of those women are living their lives as if there isn't the slightest possibility that they will ever have to face life alone.

And those are all phases of living in which a woman has to learn by herself how to stand on her own two feet.

A husband can help prepare his wife for living alone in financial and business ways. But in most ways she has to teach herself. And if she waits until she is actually alone, it is a far tougher job than if she learns to rely on herself before it becomes an absolute necessity

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft has done all the things you could expect a professional politician to do. General Eisenhower, the political amateur, has been going by his own rules.

Taft breezed into the presidential race with coattails flying. He wanted the presidency. He announced for it last Oct. 17. He started to work for it right way, speechmaking, lining up support, surrounding himself with old-time politicians.

At that time the insiders probably knew where Eisenhower stood but the public didn't even know whether he was Republican or Democrat. He didn't say openly he was a Republican until Jan. 7.

Now that he's back he's working hard for the nomination although six months ago he said he wouldn't.

The people working for him are earnest. His political headquarters here is a cheery place, with wall-to-wall carpeting, plenty of big pictures of the general, all smiling, and girls in the summer dresses, filing, answering phones, clipping newspapers.

In New York theres another Eisenhower headquarters, called "citizens for Eisenhower." Taft has similar headquarters in both places. And, in addition to volunteers, both men have key people working for them around the country, plus organizations in states and cities.

While Eisenhower is surrounded with plenty of political pros-like Lodge, Sen. Duff of Pennsylvania, Sen. Carlson of Kansas, and state governors who like him—he has some prominent amateur help, too.

Paul Hoffman, one of his advisors, is no pro. He's been a businessman who was chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, president of the Studebaker Corp., boss of the Marshall Plan, and head of the Ford Foundation from which he's on leave of absence to help the general.

Union Shop Catch in T-H Law Could Cause Indefinite Delays

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — All the monkeyshines and mutual buck-passing in which President Truman and the Congress are now indulging to give the appearance of trying to settle the steel strike may be meaningless.

The reason is that they do not touch on the fundamental and underlying issue of what to do about the union shop. That was the real stumbling block on which John A. Stephens, spokesman for the steel industry management and CIO Steelworkers' Union President Phil Murray fell down.

President Truman, in his sudden but restrained appearance before the joint session of Congress to ask for a new policy directive on the steel case, did not mention the union shop once.

The Senate, after five hours of argument in which it beat down four attempts by Senators Morse of Oregon, Maybank of South Carolina, Monroney of Oklahoma and Humphrey of Minnesota to authorize a new government seizure, did not mention the union shop once.

The Senate then passed a resolution by Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia "requesting" the President to use the Taft-Hartley act, but really ramming it down his throat and making him like it.

But even if the House concurs in this action, there is no assurance that the Taft-Hartley act will do any good in the steel case. It could conceivably make the situation worse, by crystallizing union opposition to the law itself, which up to now has been a dormant issue. The only way to find out how the law will work, however, is the hard way of trying it out to see.

LAW PROVIDES NO CURE FOR UNION SHOP ISSUE

There is some opinion that if the Taft-Hartley act had been applied in the steel wage case last December, solution of the dispute would be no nearer today.

The reason given is that the Taft-Hartley act provides no sure cure for the union shop issue. It says only that union shop agreements may be made for one year and must be approved by a majority of the workmen employed in plants covered by the contract.

The situation today is that union labor leaders are determined to get the union shop written into their new agreements, while management is just as determined not to grant it.

Both sides seem perfectly willing to see the steel industry shut down indefinitely, even if it wrecks the defense effort and throws the entire civilian economy into a tailspin. The public, as usual in these big strikes, is caught in the squeeze between the two sets of determined men representing employers and employes.

Shortly after the President had finished reading his special message to the joint session of Congress, Sen. Estes Kefauver, among others, pointed up the fact that to get new legislation on the union shop issue would require long hearings and should be handled cautiously by Congress. The need now is for speedy settlement by labor and management themselves.

If President Truman does now invoke the Taft-Hartley law in the steel case, the provisions applying would be these:

1—The President, through the attorney general, would ask the courts for an injunction to force the men to go back to work and delay the strike for 80 days.

2—The President would then name a board of inquiry to observe mediation efforts. If after 60 days no settlement is reached, the National Labor Relations Board would conduct an election of all steel company employes to accept or reject the employers' best offer of settlement.

OFFER CLOSE TO WSB RECOMMENDATION

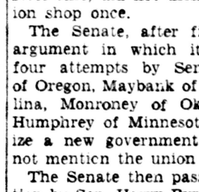

The employers' best offer, on which negotiations broke down June 9, was the equivalent of a 24-cents-an-hour increase, with all fringe benefits included. This is close to the Wage Stabilization Board's recommended settlement of an estimated 26-cent immediate increase.

But WSB recommended the union shop and the employers' best offer did not include a union shop agreement. If management claims are correct, a majority of their employes do not care about the union shop. If union officials are correct in their appraisal of the situation, rank-and-file union members will not accept a contract without the union shop provision.

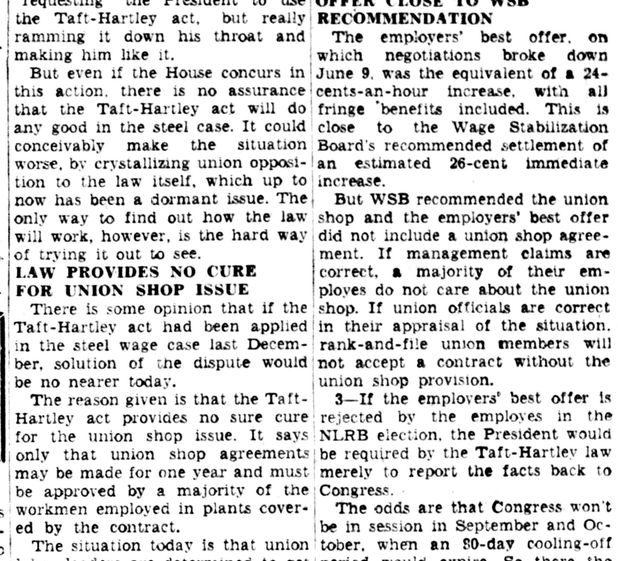

3—If the employers' best offer is rejected by the employes in the NLRB election, the President would be required by the Taft-Hartley law merely to report the facts back to Congress.

The odds are that Congress won't be in session in September and October, when an 80-day cooling-off period would expire. So there the matter would presumably lie, unless the unions and management could work out their problems without government help.

What Congress could do about the situation, even if it were in session at the end of the 80 days, nobody seems to know.

Serve Party Soft-Drink Punch

FOR GRADUATION PARTIES a class cake frosted in school colors, and punch made of your favorite soft drinks, are sure to please.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

The Class of 1952 rates all the fanfare you can give it. First, there should be a beautiful cake, frosted in tints of the school colors decorated with "1952."

If you expect big appetites, plan platters of sandwiches—ham, chicken, cheese. But above all, plan to have a bountiful assortment of iced soft drinks for the thirsty young graduates. Or else, make a soft drink punch and serve it in a large bowl set in ice.

Cherry Lime Cola
(Makes about 1½ gallons punch. Serves approximately 16 allowing three punch cups per person

Twelve small bottles lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled, 13 cups cola carbonated beverage, chilled, 1 cup maraschino cherry juice, 2 tablespoons lime juice, 1 large lime cut in thin slices.

Pour maraschino cherry juice and lime juice into punchbowl. Slowly add the well-chilled carbonated beverages. Float lime slices on top.

For a super idea try this one:

Cola Sherbet Punch
(Serves 12)

One cup cola-type carbonated beverage, well chilled, 1½ cups heavy cream, 2 tablespoons vanilla extract, 3 tablespoons corn syrup, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 egg whites, ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1 dozen individual bottles of carbonated beverage chilled.

To make Cola Sherbet: Pour cream into freezing tray. Stir in vanilla, corn syrup and orange rind. Slowly pour and fold in the cup of cola carbonated beverage. Add salt to egg whites in mixing bowl; beat until stiff but not dry. Add sugar gradually, about ½ tablespoon at a time, continuing to beat until sugar is well blended.

When cola-cream mixture is partly frozen, remove from refrigerator tray and turn into a well-chilled mixing bowl; beat until fairly stiff with a rotary egg beater (about 1 minute). Fold in egg whites; return to refrigerator and continue freezing. When mixture begins to set, stir well with a spoon. Continue freezing until firm.

To Serve: Transfer cola sherbet to serving bowl. Set in cracked ice in punch bowl. Surround with chilled individual bottled soft drinks in a variety of flavors if desired. Spoon cola sherbet into each punch glass as served, and fill with freshly-opened carbonated beverage.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Strawberries, ready-to-eat cereal, crisp bacon, enriched soft rolls, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Stuffed eggs, sliced tomatoes, sliced sweet onions, whole wheat bread, butter or margarine, cubes of cheese, chocolate cake, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Beef and vegetable meat loaf, tomato sauce, buttered spaghetti, corn on cob, enriched bread, butter or margarine, raw carrot and raw cucumber sticks, butterscotch pudding, coffee, milk.

Test Cake Using Mrs. Tucker's Produces "Exceptional Grain" For Springfield Dietitian

Miss [illegible] Devlin, prominent dietitian, of 903 South Sixth Street, Springfield, recently tested Mrs. Tucker's Shortening in baking cakes, and reports, "I really enjoyed testing Mrs. Tucker's Shortening in a Never-Fail White Cake recipe, and I was happy to learn how quickly and easily it creamed and mixed with the other ingredients. . . . My cake was light and tender, moist, and with an exceptional grain, and I know of no other shortening that always turns out such a fine cake."

"I understand that anyone can bake a cake with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, using any recipe that calls for shortening, and if you don't agree that your cake is better than any cake you ever baked before, using ANY other kind of shortening, then all you do is send the recipe to Mrs. Tucker's Homemakers Department, Sherman, Texas, telling what you didn't like about the cake, and Mrs. Tucker's will repay you for all the ingredients used, PLUS a dollar for your baking time. That's the kind of cake insurance any woman would like to have when she bakes, and I can certainly recommend Mrs. Tucker's Shortening for anyone to try!"

Legion Auxiliary Of White Hall To Sell Gift Quilt

White Hall — American Legion Auxiliary to post No. 70 met Thursday night at the Legion Home with a potluck supper. On the committee for the supper were Meda Hayes, Ivamae Dickerson and Dorothy M. Young. Mrs. C. W. Campbell was a guest.

During the business session, a cash sum of $5 was voted to the Girl Scouts of the community, members of Girl Scout troops being active in the sale of poppies for the Auxiliary during the past several years.

It was announced the Auxiliary has 98 paid up members to date.

Meda Hayes gave an interesting account of her trip in the annual pilgrimage to the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Normal. She described the picnic luncheon at the Bell Cottage, which is sponsored by posts and Auxiliaries of the 20th district. Bob Becraft, one of the occupants of the cottage, is sponsored by the White Hall Auxiliary.

Members of the local unit baked cookies for the picnic dinner. Mrs. Goldie Hunnicutt and Mr. and Mrs. E. Hart of Roodhouse accompanied Mrs. Hayes.

Ruth A. Hitch, historian of the unit, read a history of the year's activities.

Miss Hitch was chairman of the nominating committee and reported as follows: president, Ivamae Dickerson; first vice president, Freda English; second vice president, Pansy McCarthy; chaplain, Lida Livingstone; historian, Dorothy M. Young; sergeant at arms, Lela Hubbard; treasurer, Lea Neece. These officers were unanimously elected and will be installed at the August meeting of the unit, taking over their duties in September.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Lida Livingstone, assisted by members, put in a quilt which will be quilted at the home and sold, proceeds to go toward Auxiliary expenses. The quilt was donated by the president, Dorothy M. Young, and Mrs. G. W. Livingston assisted in assembling it.

Miss Young and the incoming president, Mrs. Dickerson, will be delegates to the department convention July 31-Aug. 2 at Chicago.

It's Official: Forty-Five Race For Keating Trophy

The official field for the 1952 Journal Courier-Cornbelt Chevrolet Soap Box Derby numbers 45 racers. Just before the deadline Monday Gary Little, eighth grader at David Prince, and Charles DeWitt, last year's runner up for the title, submitted their names, bringing the total number of entrants to the announced final figure.

The 1952 renewal of the classic, which will be witnessed by thousands, will be run off the afternoon of July 13 on the traditional Grove street speedway. In case of inclement weather, the race will occur a week later at the same location.

Byron Lewis, chairman of the Exchange cub's Soap Box Derby committee, announced Monday night that Exchangites will begin to check the progress of soap box builders during the next few days. The boys will be checked every few days until Derby Day.

To Discourage Withdrawals

"We want to reduce to an absolute minimum the number of youngsters who become discouraged by problems of constructing a soap box," Lewis said. "In fact, we hope this year there won't be one withdrawal."

Lewis pointed out that almost four weeks remain before the big day. "While it takes a lot of work to build a good racer, four weeks is plenty of time in which to build an excellent one," the Exchange club chairman said.

The last signer for the big event, Charles DeWitt, is a veteran of two previous derbies. And on each occasion he has won valuable prizes. Last year he was the Class "B" champion and gave Springfield's Dick Walbaum, the champ, a race right down to the wire in the final heat.

Asked how he expected to do this year, the friendly David Prince student said he "hoped to take the big prize this time." He added that this will be his first year in Class "A" competition, but he didn't expect it to be much different from Class "B".

Class "B" Champs

"Although naturally I hope that this year will see the winner a Class "A" soap boxer (boys 13 to 16), I never did see any reason why a Class "B" boy (11 to 13) couldn't take the Keating trophy," DeWitt commented. Class "B" champions have never won the final heat in the Jacksonville Derby. "But I think that is just the breaks," last year's Class "B" champion said.

DeWitt is sponsored by the Jacksonville Implement company. He resides at 348 North Webster avenue.

Gary Little, 311 East Beecher, is sponsored by Ingels' Machine shop. He told a reporter that he hopes to "be in there at the final heat."

Junior Woman's Club Prepares Year's Budget

The first executive board meeting of the Junior Woman's club since the conclusion of regular club meetings for the summer was held Monday evening at the home of Lois Freemen, Jacksonville route four.

The club president, Naydene Massey, was in charge. A general discussion was held concerning a budget for the club for the coming year. A committee was appointed to study the problem and construct a budget. Eulala Ryan is the chairman with Katy Heneghan; and Paula Lou Mitchell assisting.

Year books were also under discussion and will be compiled, going to press in the near future. The club president, Naydene Massey, gave an interesting report of her attendance at the international convention of Federated Woman's clubs held this year at Minneapolis, Minn.

One new member, Mrs. Agnes Ingram, was approved for admittance into the club. At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

Board members attending the meeting were Eulala Ryan, Rosalie Hofmann, Lois Freeman, Vera Sue Schneider, Betty Fitzsimmons, Betty Price, Katy Heneghan, Naydene Massey, Paula Lou Mitchell and Jessica Roberts.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, July 7 at the home of the president, Naydene Massey.

Displaced Brooklyns Make Cubs Top Flag Contender In 1952

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

New York—(NEA)—Because Andy Pafko was the only name player involved, the eight-player trade between the Dodgers and Cubs, June 15 of last year, was tagged "The Big Steal of 1951."

It may well turn out to be "The Big Steal of 1952," but in an entirely different sense.

Eddie Miksis

Rube Walker, Schmitz and Terwilliger went to Ebbets Field with Pagko for Miksis, Hermanski, Bruce Edwards and Hatten.

That made 13 Brooklyn displaced baseball persons in the livery of the Chicago Nationals, so the latter became known as the Flatbush Culls.

From the parent club and its farms and other organizations came Pitchers Minner, Klippstein, Lown, Ramsdell, Leonard and Hatten; Catchers Toby Atwell and Bruce Edwards; Infielders Fondy, Miksis and Ramazzotti; and Outfielders Hermanski and Addis.

In March, Leo Durocher of the Giants called the Cubs' situation disgraceful.

Miksis Makes Infield

While allowing for the rebuilding in Pittsburgh, practically everybody consigned the Bruins to the basement for the fourth time in five campaigns.

That was before Hank Sauer started hitting the ball where it is pitched and to all fields, and the critics forgot to take into consideration young pitchers of great potential coming along.

Eddie Miksis setting up the infield was entirely overlooked, as was the fact that Roy Smalley and his wide range and rifle arm would be back on two sound ankles.

Personnel director Wid Matthews calls Miksis the best infielder in the business, says he wouldn't swap him alone for the four shipped to the Gowanus.

When Smalley went out with a Charley horse, the Cubs rambled right along with the versatile Miksis at shortstop and Ramazzotti, the unwanted, at second.

Miksis the Playmaker

Matthews says Miksis made one of the finest plays he ever saw throwing out Granny Hamner of the Phillies and the tying run at the plate in which Sauer beat Curt Simmons with three home runs.

"Miksis moved to his left when Burgess hit a ball that Fondy should have fielded, managed to get his hands on the ball when it got through the first baseman," he explains. "A remarkable recovery and throw got Hamner when he attempted to score from second behind pinch-runner Caballerro.

"Those are the kind of plays that keep pitchers winning and enable relief pitchers to put out the fire."

Eddie Miksis is contributing bright chapters to this year's best baseball story to date—the surprising sustained Cub charge.

Whitey Lockman Heavy Favorite In All-Star Poll

Chicago, June 17 —(AP)— Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, whose consistent hitting always produces problems for opposing pitchers, threatens to make a run away race for choice to play first base in the National league's starting lineup in the All-Star baseball game at Philadelphia July 8.

The 25-year-old Lockman 108,394 votes to 89,216 for Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati, his closest pursuer. Gil Hodges, Brooklyn, the fans' choice at first base in the 1951 game, is third with 66,428.

Lockman and Gran Hamner, Philadelphia Phillies' hard hitting infielder, are the only two National league players leading at their positions who have never appeared in an All-Star game. Hamner tops the National league shortstops with 102,621 votes.

Lockman's voting strength has put him ahead of a teammate, Bobby Thomson, Giant home run hero of the final play off game with Brooklyn last fall. Thomson, however, leads at third base with 101,506 votes.

Tigers Clip Yankees 7-6 In 11 Innings

Detroit, June 11—(AP)—New York hurler Jim McDonald hit batter Bob Swift with a pitched ball with the bases loaded with one out in the 11th inning tonight to hand the last place Detroit Tigers a 7 to 6 victory over the New York Yankees. The drama-packed contest was watched by 47,544 fans, largest crowd of the season at Briggs stadium.

Johnny Bratton Predicts Kayo Over Castellani

Chicago, June 17 —(AP)— Johnny Bratton, Chicago welterweight contender, tonight predicted a knockout victory over Rocky Castellani in Wednesday night's ten round return match in the Chicago Stadium.

Castellani, 25-year-old slugger from Luzerne, Pa., defeated the sharp hitting Chicagoan on a unanimous decision in their previous bout in New York's Madison Square Garden last March 28.

Merchants vs. Manchester (7 p.m.)
Greenfield vs. Taylorville (8:30 p.m.)

Greenfield unleashed a six run attack in the seventh inning to break up a close ball game and trim the State Hospital Redlegs 11-2 in an "A" league softball contest at Nichols Park last night.

New York, June 17—(AP)—Gus Bell belted a grand-slam two-out homer in the seventh inning tonight to spark the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-2 victory over the New York Giants. The blow ruined Hal Gregg's return to the major leagues and provided Forrest Main with his first triumph of the season.

Lewis Spins No-Hitter As Dodgers Rap Giants In Little League Fray

Dodgers vs. Cards

Right hander Jerry Lewis pitched no-hit baseball as the Little League Dodgers smacked the Giants 7-1 on the State Hospital diamond yesterday afternoon.

Lewis struck out 14 Giants out of a possible 18 outs in the six inning game. His deceptive motion from a cross fire delivery completely befuddled the Giant batters.

Dodger hitters were paced by big Steve Hills who belted two more over the fence to raise his home run total to four for the season.

Isle pitched all the way for the Giants and gave up nine hits.

No games were played yesterday afternoon. Monday night's rain halted afternoon games but the diamond was playable in time for the twilight leaguers to use it.

FAN BREEZES

Like fine wine the Nichols Park Open golf tournament is improving with age. Most observers thought that they'd seen the match of the year Sunday when Tom Kirkham nicked Ken Litchfield in a first-rounder. However, Monday afternoon's sudden-death, extra-inning affair between Homer Mitchell and Bas Sorrells tops the Kirkham-Litchfield duel.

Mitchell, runner-up to champion Floyd Craft last year, was three down going into the final three holes against Sorrells, a Country Club clubber. Mitchell parred number seven with a trey, then birdied eight and nine with 3's to tie the match at the end of 18. Sorrells shot three 4's, good enough to win at least one of those last three holes 99 times out of 100.

But that wasn't all. Forced into extra holes to decide the match, the pair shot par 3 on the first hole. Mitchell got off a bad drive on two, the ball traveling only about 125 yards and off to the left. The husky contender then holed out his over 100 yard approach for an eagle deuce and the victory.

Sorrells returns to the Country Club course wondering just what the heck a guy has to do to win a match. Both shot identical 68's over the regular 18 holes. A fine bit of golf and there was no gallery to watch.

Spike Wilson fired a 68 yesterday to beat O. E. Goodrich two and one in another first-round match in the championship flight. Only preliminary match left is the Buckley-Reynolds duel. That's scheduled for Sunday.

The publinx open is attracting more than ordinary interest this year. And no wonder, for there's some fine golf being played by both the Nichols Park and Country Club shooters. Sunday will be a big day in the meet and will probably produce the four semi-finalists.

Paul Lasley is enjoying a furlough with his parents here this week. Lasley, former Jacksonville high school and Illinois college athlete, is a candidate for West Point this summer. He'll know if he made the Plebe class of 1952 when he returns off fur-lap.

Entries are in for the fifth annual Western Illinois Invitational Softball tournament. The pairings will be announced after Recreation club officials have mailed same to the team managers. Here are the 16 entries: Macomb Moose, Alton Dominoes, Springfield One Day Cleaners, New Berlin, Waverly, Murrayville, Greenfield, Lewis Elevator, Hilltoppers, Squires, State Hospital, Merchants, Cozy Dogs, Rogersons Coal, House of Clay and Dixons.

Everything points to a great tournament this year. Softball officials keep hoping that their sport will keep pace with attendance at the Nichols swimming pool, the golf course and the fishing holes. Thus far it hasn't.

Dodgers Smear Bruins 9-1

Brooklyn, June 17—(AP)—Preacher Roe coasted to his sixth victory of the season without a loss tonight as the Brooklyn Dodgers smeared the Chicago Cubs, 9-1. The Brooks scored four runs before a batter was retired in the first and sewed it up with five more in the fifth, two on Gil Hodges' 12th homer of the season.

Roe allowed only four hits. Ed Miksis collected half of the blows. The former Dodger infielder singled in the first and clouted his second homer of the season in the fourth.

NOTICE—NO CAPTAINCY

Copenhagen, June 17 —(AP)— The Danish football association named a new captain for the Danish national soccer team today because the former captain won't wear a tie.

Knud Lundberg, national captain for years and sort of a national hero, was rejected after he refused to put on a tie at the banquet which ended the Nordic soccer tournament in Oslo last week.

Lundberg said he won't bear a grudge against the football association until they demand that he wears a tie when playing.

Pepped-Up Browns Rally To Down Red Sox 3-1

St. Louis, June 17—(AP)—Held hitless for five innings, the St. Louis Browns banged out three hits good for three runs in the sixth inning tonight to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 3-1, as pitcher Bobby Cain countered with a four-hitter for his fifth victory of the season.

Left hander Mickey McDermott and youngster Dick Brodowski combined to shackle the Browns in the first half of the game, working smoothly behind a one-run lead that Boston picked up on three singles in the first inning.

But after superb relief work for two and two-thirds innings, the 20-year-old Brodowski was tagged for the first St. Louis hit when Jim Rivera opened the sixth with a double. A hit batter and a sacrifice put runners on second and third and Darrell Johnson supplied a two-run single to put the Browns out front.

Dick Kryhoski followed with a double to make it 3-1.

Except for the shaky start, Cain pitched himself a honey of a game while going the distance for the first time since defeating Bobby Feller and the Cleveland Indians April 23. He fanned seven and walked two.

Bob Porterfield was credited with the victory in a duel with Bob Feller, but he was relieved in the eighth by Sandy Consuegra.

The Indians left 12 base runners stranded, including four at third base.

The Indians outhit the Nats, 13-9, but the Nats bunched seven of their blows into their three scoring innings. Rapp hit a double and two singles and Jensen and Micky Vernon each hit a double and a single

Sam Snead Won't Try For Low Medal In PGA Golf Tournament Today

By Will Grimsley

Louisville, Ky., June 17—(AP)—Defending champion Sam Snead, his putter cold, shoulder sore and patience thin, decided today not to seek the low medal in the 36-hole qualifying for the Professional Golfers Association tournament, beginning Wednesday at Big Spring.

"I'll spend the two days pitching and putting," he said. "Got to get my shoulder and putter right for Friday."

That's when match play starts in this seven-day marathon regarded by the golfers themselvevs as the most rigous test in the sport. It's 36 holes a day after two rounds of qualifying Wednesday and Thursday.

Snead, who as titlist is exempt from qualifying, developed a sore muscle in his right shoulder in the National Open at Dallas. He has been receiving doctor's treatment.

Meanwhile, a slight undercurrent of resentment swept through the ranks of the mercenaries over the PGA decision to let the new National Open champion, Julius Boros, compete although he is technically ineligible.

Under existing rules a golfer must serve a five year apprenticeship before he can be a member of the PGA. Boros, who cracked Ben Hogan's grip on the Open last weekend, has had his card in less than three.

Nevertheless, a telephone poll of the executive committee produced a special dispensation and the bronzed, 32-year-old son of Hungarian immigrants is here seeking to become the third man to win the two big titles in the same season.

The Boros case drew conflicting reaction.

"Personally, I think the five-year rule is a bad rule," said Cary Middlecoff. "There should be some consistency about it and it seems unfair not to give the same treatment to such steady tournament pros as Doug Ford, Tommy Bolt, Al Besselink and Skee Riegel."

Ford, Bolt and Besselink, ineligible under the same ruling, all lead Boros in the money winning list until the latter grabbed the $4,000 open prize.

Some of the visiting home pros also registered mild beefs but generally the move was hailed as a sane one. It provided new interest and crowd appeal for the tournament.

Wednesday, the field of 144 will qualify in threesomes, leaving the first tee at 4:30 a.m. (CST). The low 63 will go into the match play bracket with Snead.

Phils-Cardinals Split Twin Bill 2-1 And 4-0

Stan Musial homered with none on in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

Curt Simmons got credit for his fifth win of the season (against two losses) in the opener while Robin Roberts was the loser in the second game—his fourth defeat in a row after he had won seven straight.

The double header was played in 90-degree heat but a crowd of 22,854 turned out.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, June 17 — (AP) — A 25 cents lower hog market today pushed prices back to where they were before the steep mid-May rise of $2.50 a hundredweight.

Cattle trading was further depressed, prices ruling steady to 50 cents lower. Receipts were some 1,500 fewer than the trade had expected, but slackening demand continued too small to stem the price decline. A big influence was a report by the department of agriculture saying last week's beef production was around 32 million pounds greater than a year ago.

Most butcher weight hogs sold from $18.50 to $20.75, the top and lowest price since May 13. Sows took $15.75 to $18.00, topping at $18.25.

Good to prime steers and heifers generally made $29.00 to $35.00 although two loads of prime steers topped at $35.50. Best cows brought $25.00, bulls $27.00, and vealer calves $35.00. The vealer market was steady to $1.00 lower.

Spring lambs fell to $29.50, the lowest price of the season and around $4.00 lower than a year ago. Most lamb prices were weak to 50 cents lower. Old-crop shorn lambs topped at $26.00. Ewes ranged downward from $9.00, or strong.

Receipts on sale included an estimated 11,000 hogs, 5,500 cattle, 400 calves, and 700 sheep.

OLD CROP SOYBEANS SEVEN CENTS LOWER

CHICAGO—(AP)—With all cereals on the Board of Trade weak, old crop soybeans tumbled for losses running to around 7 cents at times today while all wheat contracts eased into new low ground on the current crop.

The break in old crop soybeans reflected lower prices for vegetable oils in various spot markets. Lard also fell for wide losses because of this weakness. New crop soybeans were marked down, but losses were not severe.

Moderate hedging pressure was enough to send wheat into new low ground in the absence of aggressive demand. Seasonal lows also were registered at Kansas City. Corn and oats suffered with the rest of the market, although dealings were not active.

Preliminary estimated receipts of grain in carlots: wheat 1, corn 67, oats 6, rye 1, barley 11, soybeans 16.

Wheat closed 1¼ to 2 cents lower, July $2.28¾, corn ¼-1½ lower, July $1.81¼-½, oats ¼-½ lower, July 77⅞-⅞, rye 2½-3¼ lower, July $2.09, soybeans 2¼-6¼ lower, July $3.20¼-$3.20, and lard 27 to 45 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $11.50.

*This is the local delivered price for the Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan
MODEL 46D (Illustrated)
Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

We put the price of this Buick in big type because we're proud of it.

It's the price of the six-passenger, two-door SPECIAL—ready to roll.

When you put this price against the local delivered prices of other cars that folks usually associate with Buick—you'll have a hard time finding a single one as low.

When you put this price against what you'll pay for cars with the reputation of being "lower priced"—you'll find why this Buick gives them such keen competition.

And—if you want to go in for extras—you can still add up what goes on the bill of sale of other cars and a Buick—you'll find out that Buick's an even greater buy.

We know that price is important to a lot of folks, especially with the price of groceries—and even baby shoes—where they are today.

But you also want some fun for your money—and that's where a Buick really shines.

Just wait till you give a gentle nudge to the power that's under that big, broad hood and feel your shoulders sink back as this beauty takes off.

You'll feel like the million dollars it cost to perfect its ride, when you sample the steady smoothness of its gait.

It's eager, alert, alive—makes each mile a new experience.

Want to try it? Why not? We're willing to let this beauteous bundle of high-powered energy speak for itself.

Death in the Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.—Copyright by Watson Davis

THE STORY: Rosemary Curtis finds murder instead of vacation relaxation in the Sierras and the motive seems to be a hidden treasure in gold coin buried by early-day immigrants. Soon after Rosemary's arrival, Mrs. Ordell, wife of a college professor, was stabbed and later her body disappears. Rosemary herself was mistaken for a woman named Elsie Martinson.

• • •

VIII

SO that was it. Elsie Martinson, the woman who looked like me, had been murdered. I realized that I must make Sergeant Duncan believe I was no relation. I told him the whole story right down to the discovery we had just made, that my car was gone.

Sergeant Duncan listened, then said: "I believe you, Miss. Maybe you can help me solve this whole mess if you're innocent. But if you're lying to me, you'll not get away with it."

He shook my hand and at moment Susie's tail began to thump as Dr. David Roberts came down from the dusty haymow above us. Duncan touched his gun, but the Doctor said:

"Pardon me for eavesdropping, but I have some things I must say. I've doubted your story, Miss Curtis, especially since your means of identification could be easily forged. I wanted you to go, because I knew if stayed there would be trouble. But now I realize that if you were Elsie Martinson, you would have no reason to conceal your identity." He had believed I was lying.

I was on the verge of explosion but before I could get my furious thoughts harnessed into the power of words, Duncan said, "As far as I can see, Doctor, you and Miss Curtis know a lot! Ordell seems to know something too. Nothing, thus far, has explained why he pocketed the gold pie that you found or why he consented to leave his wife's body alone in the tent.

"According to your reasoning Mrs. Ordell lay untouched, alone, from 9:45 in the morning until just before we arrived last night at 8:30. Thats' awful! It involves everyone of you in complicity to the crime. Where were you, Doctor?"

I answered before Dr. Roberts had a chance, telling the Sergeant that the Doctor did try to make Mr. James let him do something.

"James, eh?" said Duncan quietly. Then he looked sharply at us both. "You're both smart. By the way, Roberts, how did you get out of the Lodge and up into the hayloft without Marguard or me seeing you?"

The Doctor grinned delightedly. "While you looked for the tracks beneath the window, I slipped out of the far door while Marguard turned to watch what you were doing."

• • •

WE went again along the trail where we found the gold piece; again to the Ordell tent. Everything was exactly as it had been the previous night.

We went to the pool below the noisy falls. Again I saw the fern frond crushed against the granite boulder by which it grew.

"I suppose you people milled around here last night and some one's heel hit that fern," mused Sergeant Duncan almost in reply to my thought, "or it might be that the stream was used to break the scent. Well, it's a slim clue to follow. Let's go back to the barn, get some horses and take a ride!"

Mentally I wondered about that fern. Duncan seemed to dismiss it as unimportant. Perhaps the killer swam the icy-cold, calm water of the pool to the other side, and if I crossed it, I felt sure Susie would pick up the scent again. We could go up the hillside toward the source of the stream and could cross at a narrow place. I decided to slip away on the pretext of changing into riding clothes.

Back to my tent, booted and in my whipcord breeches, I pulled a sweater over my head, thrust a beret into the square pocket of my leather jacket and, with Susie pulling on her leash ahead of me, I ran up the mountainside. Running from clumps of buckbrush to a sheltering tree to partially hide me from the men below, I went up, up into the wilderness.

Then across the small and shallow canyon down which rushed the same stream that passed my tent, I saw someone.

Indian-like, he made no sound as he walked, yet my eyes were instantly drawn to him. He was short, barrel-bodied, clothed in faded overalls, and he was barefooted.

A stubble of beard covered his face and his hair was unkempt. He carried a rifle under his arm and walked stealthily.

Down the stream-course toward my tent went the man. He had not seen us.

• • •

AS silently as we were able, Sue and I followed. Then was my chance to use my gun because there was no doubt in my mind that here was the murderer. I crept closer, hoping I would prove to be a good shot.

The man followed the stream down the canyon. I was thankful because the noise of the water covered any sound that we made.

Within sight of my tent at the pool below the falls, he stopped. I thought of the crushed fern.

Satisfied that no one was near, the barefooted man laid his rifle beneath a clump of willow brush and covered it carefully with dried leaves. Again he looked carefully about while I gazed fearfully from a crack beneath the granite. Seeing nothing, he waded down the bank of the pool, walking over the crushed fern, clambered over the low rocks, held his nose, and slid down into the black depths of the water.

I waited for him to come up, my heart beating like a drum. He remained out of sight.

Horrified, I watched that calm water. The ripples that he caused by entering it subsided. Its calm surface remained still.

KEEPING BANK EMPLOYES HAPPY

Denver —(AP)— A Denver banker says one way to keep bank employes happy is to have music piped in while they count currency and add up trial balances.

Other ways to keep them contented, says Elmer M. Brooks, president of the Central Bank and Trust Co., are sports teams, a social fund for dinners and dances, employe participation in problems confronting management and service pins and Christmas bonuses.

Mother And 3 Children Burn In Jersey County; Father, 1 Child Escape

JERSEYVILLE, ILL.—A young mother and three of her four children perished in fire which swept their three room home on a farm nine miles northeast of this city early Tuesday morning. Her husband and a two year old child escaped from the blazing home.

Victims of the tragedy, one of the worst in the history of Jersey county, were:

Mrs. Doris Evelyn Farmer, 24, wife of LeRoy Farmer.
Nedra Jannele, 4.
Marlene Kay, 3.
Darla Joy, 2 months.

Farmer, who is 27 years old and a tenant farmer, carried two year old Dennis Farmer to safety.

A bolt of lightning is believed to have fired the home about 1 a.m., according to Jersey county authorities.

Farmer said he and his wife were sleeping in separate rooms. He was awakened by intense heat and smoke, and after grabbing up the two year old boy, jumped from a window.

Heard Wife Answer

Farmer told Coroner Rodney Jacoby that he called to his wife at a window to pass the other children out to him. He said his wife responded through the flames and smoke, "I can't do it."

Whether the woman was overcome by smoke to such an extent that she was unable to lift the children, or was confused and could not find them, is not known to officials.

Farmer attempted to reenter the house, but the window was four or five feet from the ground, he said, and flames were pouring from it.

The intense heat at first kept the men 60 feet away from the house.

Former Hillview Residents

Farmer, a former resident of Hillview, Ill., made his way to the home of Harvey Mosley, by whom he was employed, and gave the alarm. A pumper from the Jerseyville fire department went to the Mosley farm, but the tenant house was in complete ruins.

After several hours the ashes cooled sufficiently to allow removal of the bodies, all of which were badly burned. They were removed to the Jacoby Funeral Home in Jerseyville.

The Farmer family moved to the Mosley farm about three and one-half months ago from Hillview.

Farmer and two year old Dennis did not sustain burns.

Coroner Jacoby held an inquest Tuesday night.

The verdict stated that the four deaths were caused by asphyxiation and severe third degree burns.

Testimony was given by Farmer and a neighbor, M. J. Ritchey, Jr.

Bolt Hit Middle Of House

Firemen and others who inspected the ruins expressed opinion that lightning struck the center of the roof and that the entire structure was enveloped by flames in a few minutes. The home, located at the end of a maple-bordered lane, was built three years ago.

The fact that sidings from the building had been blown 200 feet into the direction from which the wind blew, the northeast, was taken as evidence of a lightning bolt.

Two butane gas tanks located near the side of the house escaped damage.

Mrs. Farmer was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burbridge of Hillview.

Surviving are her husband and son; her parents; one brother, Everett Burbridge of Hillview; two sisters, Mrs. Ellery Dawdy, Carrollton, and Mrs. Adrian Darr, Hillview.

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer lived in Missouri for some time before returning to Illinois.

Funeral services will be held at the Hillview Baptist church at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be made in Pine Tree cemetery at Patterson.

After 4 p.m. Wednesday the bodies will be at the home of Mrs. Farmer's parents at Hillview.

Forum Meets

Dr. J. Y. Burbank was host to the members of Research Forum No. 24 at a 6:30 p.m. dinner held at the B & J cafe Monday. Following the dinner the group went to Dr. Burbank's home where the paper of the evening was presented by County Judge Byron E. Koch on the subject, "Can We Solve the World Problem of Hunger?"

The paper stated that according to some experts it is overpopulation which causes hunger, and were there fewer people there would be no hunger. Famine, they say, is nature's way of attempting to balance food supply and demand. Other experts claim hunger increases populations.

The paper pointed out that scientists believe the solution to be increased food production, wider distribution and greater variety in diets.

Following the reading of the paper a roundtable discussion was held.

Emily Irlam Becomes Bride Of Alvin Bachman

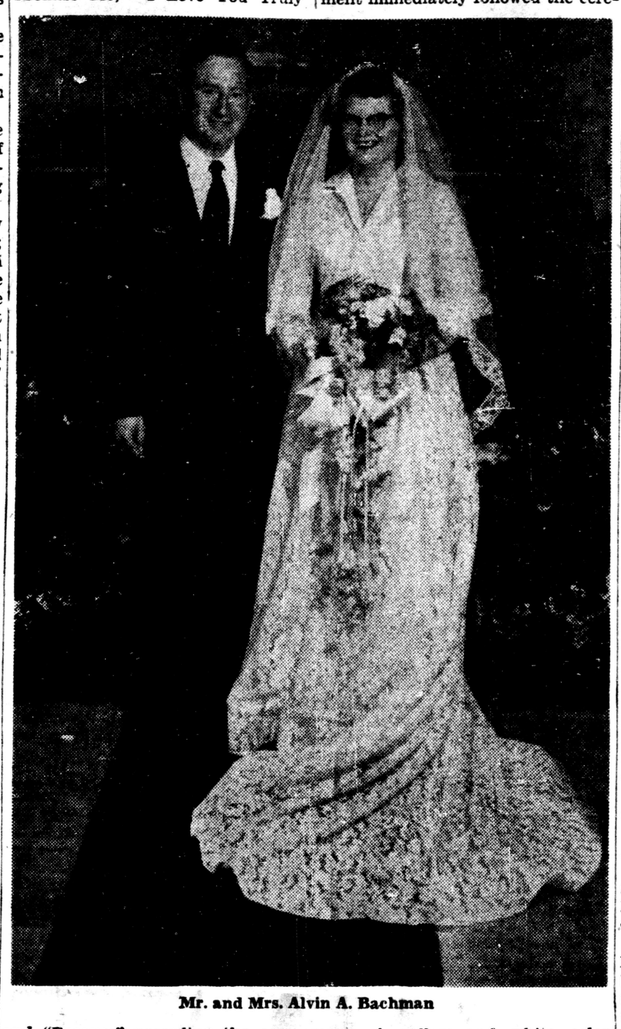

Afternoon Ceremony Held At Woodson

Miss Emily Elizabeth Irlam, a June bride in a gown of lace, and Alvin A. Bachman, assistant farm adviser for Morgan county, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Unity Presbyterian church of Woodson.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Irlam of Murrayville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Viola Bachman of Piasa, Ill., and the late Albert Bachman.

Rev. Arie Vanderhorst, the pastor, performed the double ring ceremony at the candlelighted altar. A center basket of white gladioli and ferns was banked at each side with candelabra bearing white tapers, and with palms and ferns.

Miss Martha Lorton sang "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "Because" preceding the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony. Mrs. Russell McKean, cousin of the bride, played the nuptial prelude and accompanied the vocalist.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Bachman

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown with its chapel length train was made entirely of Chantilly lace. It was fashioned with a Queen Anne collar and long sleeves tapering to points over the wrists. Tiny self-covered buttons descended in the back from collar to hip line.

Wears Nylon Net Veil

Her blusher veil of nylon net, bordered with Chantilly lace, was held by a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a showered arm bouquet of white roses, centered with a corsage of white carnations. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Her sister, Miss Isabel Irlam, was her maid of honor. She wore a floor length formal of light green nylon net, a double strand of pearls encircling her throat over the low cut scalloped neckline. Her mitts matched the shade of the gown. There was an orchid plume in her hair, a bouquet of orchid gladioli in her arms.

Two year old Carol Lynn Irlam, the bride's niece, was attired in a floor length dress of yellow organdy for her role as flower girl. A nosegay of daisies was attached to the full skirt. The basket of rose petals she carried was covered in orchid lace.

During the prelude of wedding music the candles were lighted by Miss Virginia Darwent, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Richard Wegehoft. On the shoulder of Miss Darwent's pink formal was a corsage of pink carnations tied with blue ribbon. Mrs. Wegehoft's blue formal was complemented by a corsage of pink carnations, ribboned in blue.

Serves As Best Man

Samuel M. Butler, cousin of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man. Navy blue business suits with white carnation boutonnieres and maroon ties were worn by the two.

Ushers were Thomas W. Irlam of Murrayville, brother of the bride, and Malvern Vasey.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Irlam chose a navy sheer dress with navy and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother was in aqua nylon. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of white roses.

A reception in the church basement immediately followed the ceremony. A yellow and white color scheme was followed. On the table, decorated with a bouquet of flowers and tapers in the two colors, stood an all white wedding cake, three tiered and topped with miniature bride and bridegroom. The first pieces were cut by the newly married couple.

Assist At Reception

All assisting at the reception wore wrist corsages of white carnations tied with varicolored ribbon. Mrs. Thomas W. Irlam, sister-in-law of the bride, served the cake with the assistance of Mrs. Robert W. Blimling, the bride's cousin. Punch was served by Mrs. John Kelsey, the bridegroom's sister, assisted by Mrs. Richard Evans, cousin of the bridegroom.

Others assisting with the serving were Miss Mary Flynn, Mrs. William Joseph and Mrs. J. T. Butler, aunt of the bride. The guests were registered by Miss Irene Crawford.

Later the couple left on a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. For traveling the bride wore a navy linen dress with accessories of navy and white, and the white carnation corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Upon their return they will reside at 1390 Goltra avenue in this city.

The bride graduated from Murrayville high school and attended Hardin Brown Business College. She is employed at the Morgan County Service company here. The bridegroom graduated from Brighton high school and the University of Illinois before coming to Jacksonville as assistant farm adviser.

40 Local Organizations Start Welfare Council

Forty local organizations devoted in part or in full to civic welfare were represented by as many persons when the Council of Social Agencies held a meeting Tuesday evening at the Y.M.C.A. The purpose which drew them together was the formation of an expanded council which would integrate the many groups into unity in their community endeavors.

The initial session, which opened at 7:30 p.m., was held to impart information to the groups on the advantages, the need of such a city-wide organization. The group showed enthusiasm for the ideas proposed by the small original council, that they all could work better together, could eliminate duplication of efforts and accomplish more.

They voted unanimously to proceed with expansion.

Acts As Chairman

Paul Hartman, general secretary of the local Y., served as temporary chairman. A number of those present 'addressed' the group. Among them were Dr. Garm Norbury of the Norbury Sanatorium, Dr. Louis Belinson, superintendent of the Jacksonville State Hospital, Dr. Malcolm Stewart of the Illinois College faculty and Dr. James Chapman of the heath department.

Their statements included suggestions that each organization would retain its autonomy, its individuality, though it joined the council. They spoke of the efficiency that could be reached in social projects through such a unified group, and of the waste of effort, apparent now, which could be erased.

They mentioned previous attempts at unification that failed, and expressed determination to succeed this time.

Appoint Committee

An organizational committee headed by Dr. Belinson was appointed to draw up a constitution, propose a name, suggest a foundation framework of ideas for the council and nominate a slate of temporary officers at the next meeting.

Named to the committee were Mrs. A. L. Davis of the A.A.U.W., Mrs. Ted Pierce of the Home Bureau, Ira (Bus) Carter of the Tuxedo club, Ivan Garrison of the special education department in the public schools and Severyn Bruyn of Illinois College.

Seventy-eight organizations were invited to send representatives to the first session. Those who did not attend are welcome to join with the others at the next meeting, July 29 at 7:30 p.m. at the Y.M.C.A.

We Hope To Go Back, Says Burma Missionary

At an evening session of the Illinois Baptist Women's house party at MacMurray College Tuesday evening, Mrs. Robert Johnson told her listeners that "the doors are closing in the Far East, but we hope to go back to our Baptist mission in the Chin Hills of Burma. The people need us." She and her husband returned to the United States last year after five years in the Burmese hills.

Mrs. Johnson spoke to more than 200 delegates to the Baptist women's conference in the social room of Main Hall. She described the conditions prevailing at the Baptist Chin Hills station when it was founded in the jungle wilds 50 years ago and compared them with the conditions prevailing today. "We have made great progress in converting the Burmese people to Christianity," the missionary said, "but we have a long way to go."

Speaks of Privation

She added that physicians and nurses also are needed in the Chin Hill region because "the nearest doctor is 17 days distant, in Mandalay." She said that "the Chin Hills people are poverty stricken, beyond anything which an American could possibly imagine. Half of the children born each year are destined to die while still in childhood and many of those who do survive are unclothed, though the Chin Hills are the foothills of the lofty Himalayas and the weather is cold much of each year."

Mrs. Johnson appealed for the continued support of the Baptist church at home, but added, "my husband and I are happier out in the wilderness helping the Burmese. With all the privations that implies we think we are fortunate to have the opportunity to serve them."

Exhibits Photographs

The house party began Tuesday noon at MacMurray and in the afternoon a devotional service and business meeting was held. Following the address by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. E. J. D'Aboy, vice president of the National Council of American Baptist Women, exhibited a series of photographs to the delegates.

A house coat party followed the formal evening program.

Wednesday morning Miss Isabelle Gates, national secretary of Christian Friendliness of the Women's American Baptist Home Mission society, will lead a chapel service. Business meetings and two addresses, one by Mrs. D'Aboy and one by Mrs. Fred Jackson of Champaign, will follow.

In the afternoon Miss Gates, who spent a number of years in Europe working with displaced persons, will speak on "Christian Friendliness."

In the evening Mrs. Ralph Cummins will talk on the subject of "Eighty Years of Foreign Missions."
